By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A settlement was reported near in the labor dispute that threatens to shut down the nation's railroads while tough bargaining still lay ahead in the Postal Service talks.

Negotiators for the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and the nation's major railroads began a lengthy bargaining session Wednesday night which ran past midnight, and both sides indicated they were close to agreement. The chief federal mediator, W. J. Usery Jr., assisted in the talks.

"We're together on almost everything," said union President C. L. Dennis. The industry's chief negotiator, William Dempsey, also said "significant progress" was made toward a settlement of the long dispute.

Dennis told newsmen the final issues standing in the way of an agreement, involved cost-of-living wage increases, vacations for low seniority workers and adjustments in health and welfare benefits.

Otherwise, he indicated the 117,000-member union was prepared to embrace basically the same three-year "pattern" agreement signed earlier by several other railway unions which provided for a 41 per cent hike in wages and benefits.

The Ford administration urged the negotiators to reach a settlement by midweek or face the prospect of congressional intervention in the dispute.

The union had set a deadline of 12:01 a.m. Monday for a nationwide strike.

Federal mediators were anxious to resolve the railroad dispute in order to devote full attention to negotiations for 600,000 postal workers whose contract expires at midnight Sunday. The postal workers also have threatened to walkout at that time.

Usery, who held a private four-hour meeting Wednesday with Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar, said today's session "would be one of the most serious" in the postal negotiations which began in mid-April.

Today "will determine whether the pieces go together," Usery added. "I hope they will."

The chief postal negotiator, Darrell Brown, said that while "some very critical issues remain," he was hopeful of reaching "a mutually satisfactory agreement with the four unions representing letter carriers, clerks and mail handlers."

Legislation Stalemated

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The festering dispute over legalized teacher strikes kept the Michigan Senate paralyzed Wednesday as Democratic leaders fruitlessly sought support for a compromise.

A formal session lasted just over an hour, as majority Democrats went behind closed doors to discuss the new compromise. It reportedly would allow strikes of somewhere between three and five weeks with economic penalties to teachers and school boards in the final two weeks.

The idea, although never formally proposed, was labeled unacceptable by the governor's office. Democrats were slated to return to secret caucuses today.

In a day of intense, behind-the-scenes bargaining, the chamber avoided any floor action on the bill as the frustrated Democrats won a 21-13 vote to avoid discussion for the day. In its current form, the legislation would legalize strikes of up to three weeks. The House-passed version allowed strikes of up to five weeks.

Labor lobbyists were applying steady pressure to a handful of Democrats who voted for the more restrictive version.

Meanwhile, the 85,000-member Michigan Education Association, the state's largest teachers' group, said in a letter to senators it opposed the bill in any version yet discussed.

MEA Executive Director Herman Cole said all that is needed is a requirement for binding arbitration when teacher strikes threaten the public welfare.

The day began with Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, seeking votes for the five-week strike period. At one point, he and lobbyists for the United Auto Workers and the AFL-CIO met privately with Sen. Patrick McCollough, D-Deerborn, one of the holdouts.

They met again after the formal session, but McCollough reportedly remained unsuayed by the pressure.

Fitzgerald has been unsuccessful for nearly a week, trying to find an elusive vote or two he needs to return the bill to the form in which it left the House.

Gov. William Milliken wants a bill with quick financial penalties to forestall prolonged strikes, and would accept the three-week version in the Senate.

"Any substantive changes won't be accepted," said Sen. Robert Davis of Gaylord, a Republican leader. "That will be vetoed."

Davis accused Fitzgerald of working on behalf of labor with little thought of a Milliken veto.

With the MEA against the bill, Davis charged the battle "has become a power play on the part of the AFL-CIO" to

'Friendly Bears' Promise Hugs 140 Miles Straight Up

By HOWARD BENEDEKT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo's astronauts skillfully guided their space chariot toward a linkup today with a Soviet Soyuz and a warm and symbolic embrace by Americans and Russians high above the globe.

"We'll hug them like friendly bears," the Soviet commander, Alexei Leonov, said before astronauts and cosmonauts embarked Tuesday on this first international mission of space détente.

Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, Vance D. Brand and Donald K. Slayton planned five separate engine firings in the final pursuit of Soyuz, which is serving as the target vehicle for the more sophisticated and maneuverable Apollo.

A caution warning alarm awoke the Apollo astronauts nearly an hour early today. Mission control said the situation was being studied but that "Everything looks okay."

"We believe you are getting false alarms," a ground controller advised the crew.

Earlier course adjustments by both ships were so perfect that an Apollo mission control official reported, "We're in about as good a shape as we can possibly be" for the trackdown.

The flight plan set the hookup for 12:15 p.m. EDT 140 miles above Europe.

Leonov's "bear hug" comes about three hours later when he and the American commander, Stafford, meet in a connecting tunnel between the spacecrafts and Stafford and Slayton then move into Soyuz.

They are to exchange their nation's flags, and Leonov is to present Stafford with a United Nations flag to carry back to earth.

This and much of the activity during two days of linkup will be televised to earth, giving millions around the world a ringside seat to an event which the five spacemen hope will enhance détente and lead to future cooperative space missions by many nations.

Three more crew exchanges are planned Friday, with Brand, Slayton and Valeri Kubasov each having at least one chance to visit the other country's ship. Stafford and Leonov also will make another trip through the connecting tunnel that day.

They will conduct joint medical, metals melting and scientific experiments, share meals and exchange personal gifts before holding a televised news conference Friday.

The two ships will disengage

Elderly Benton Township Woman Drowns In Bathtub

A Benton township woman accidentally drowned in her bathtub Wednesday morning, according to township police and a deputy Berrien county medical examiner.

Police identified the woman as Ethel Lee Kelly, 71, of 635 North Crystal avenue.

According to police, Mrs. Kelly had been helped into the tub by her daughter-in-law, Fannie Kelly, who then left the room. Fannie Kelly told police she heard water running in the bathroom and on investigating found the room filled with steam and the elderly woman in the tub.

police, said she appeared dead at the scene, shortly before 11 a.m.

Surviving Mrs. Kelly are three sons, Shelley, Benton Harbor, George, Alexandria, Va., and James, Oxford, Miss.; four sisters, Mrs. Helen Thomas, Chicago, Mrs. Janice Pickett, Gardonia, Calif., Mrs. Lela Eubanks and Mrs. Ellen Eubanks, both of Boxwood, Tenn., and three brothers, Grady Eubanks, Holly Springs, Miss., M. B. Eubanks and Dorch Eubanks, both of Pontiac, Miss.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete today at Robbins Brothers funeral home.

Farmers Will Fight Do-Good Harassment

By JERRY KRIEGER
County Farm Editor

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien County Farm Bureau is preparing to take legal action against what President Paul Bixby said has been "harassment" of growers on their own farms by "social reform do-gooders."

He said several thousand dollars were pledged for a fight "for what rights we think we still have," at a Farm Bureau membership meeting last night at the Youth Memorial building here.

He said the move to meet this harassment head on in the courts followed a detailed discussion of growers' rights offered last night by three representatives of the Michigan Farm Bureau. The speakers were M.J. Blachien, operations manager of the Michigan Agricultural Services association, and Al Almey, legislative counsel, and Bill Wilkinson, legal counsel, for the state farm organization.

Bixby emphasized this morning that the growers are not attempting to deny proper legal assistance to workers on their farms, but to halt illegal activities by the so-called reformers.

Bixby singled out lawyers and law students working for the Migrant Legal Services in southwestern Michigan as the chief problem source. The agency is funded with federal money. Bixby said representatives of other agencies were involved in the harassment episodes. Richard Peferman is head of the Migrant Legal Services in Michigan.

The county Farm Bureau head said considerable harassment occurred during the recently-ended strawberry harvest. He indicated it usually took the form of approaching a grower who was "knee deep in his strawberry crop" with demands of various types.

Some growers, unsure of what

Bendix Forecasts New Record Year

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. — Bendix Corp. announced a 5.9% increase in net income for its fiscal third quarter, ended June 30, and predicted "another record year" for sales and profits.

The company earned $21.7 million, or $1.33 a share, on revenue of $908.5 million, compared with year-earlier profit of $20.5 million, or $1.26 a share, on revenue of $850 million.

In the nine months, the company earned $57.7 million, or $3.94 a share, on revenue of $1.94 billion. The earnings were up 5.3% from the year-earlier $54.8 million, or $3.36 a share, on revenue of $1.86 billion.

The company said net income for the nine months was reduced $400,000 because of the disposal of certain foreign affiliates and a real-estate transaction.

In a statement, W. Michael Blumenthal, chairman, said he expected full-year results to exceed last year's $73.8 million, or $4.68 a share, on revenue of $2.48 billion.

Creating A Super Anti-Discrimination Agency

How do Washington and the state capitols meet a problem which the existent bureaucracies seemingly fail to handle?

Simple. Either create a new agency, or reshuffle and retitile those already in business. Some times, if the moon is right, go both ways simultaneously. Never, though never, take a step which might reduce the payroll.

The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights this week urged the White House and Congress to follow the third path on discrimination questions in employment.

There are four Washington outfits having a finger on employment discrimination. Chronologically, they started out in this order:

The Civil Service Commission by its own rule making power began many decades ago to ban race, color or creed as job determinants.

One of the first New Deal Congresses statutorily adopted the same standard for contractors doing government business and gave the Labor Department the assignment to enforce it. Labor does it through its Office of Federal Contract Compliance.

Under Lyndon Johnson's prodding, his Great Society Congress created the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to expunge discriminatory hiring and working practices in private business. The EEOC's authority extends to just about everyone except a shoe repair shop or a Ma'nPa grocery store. The states' equivalent of EEOC pursues those smaller fry.

Finally in 1972 Congress created the Equal Opportunity Coordinating Council to eliminate inconsistencies between the many federal civil rights programs.

The Commission faults all four as holding a palsied finger on the throttle.

Civil Service, it says, goes its own way and still uses testing procedures for jobs which are barred to other hiring units.

Contract Compliance, per the Commission, is weak on sex discrimination and a sleepy watchdog to boot.

EEOC, in the Commission's eye, is close to drowning in its own work. As of June 30th, it had a backlog of 98,000 cases waiting action.

The Council, notes the Commission, has failed completely to resolve serious differences between the agencies directly involved in employment matters.

What's the solution? The Commission says, replace the separate laws on employment discrimination by a single statute governing public and private employment and place its enforcement in a National Employment Rights Board.

The Board would wipe out EEOC, Contract Compliance and the Council. The Commission would not dissolve Civil Service in name, but for practical purposes the Board would take over the Service's functions.

Just to insure the Board would start off on the right foot, the Commission recommends it be budgeted at 150 per cent of what Congress appropriates to the separate agencies dabbling in the discrimination field. Presently the total exceeds $100 million.

There is a consistency in the Commission's position. Discrimination in employment is a single problem and why four doctors should be assigned to one patient is difficult to understand.

It is not unusual in the medical field for more than one physician to be involved in a single case, but as the Commission implies, they work as a team and not independently of one another.

What the Commission really says is that no bureaucrat will work in harness if he can help it. It is the syndrome of his agency against the world, including another government office down the hall.

This is frustrating to anyone caught up in the government's many toils and the cost of half a dozen outfits thrashing around where one could do things better is one reason the reader's taxes are what they are.

Still, the citizen may be better off in this manmade confusion.

One agency leaning on his neck could be a killer. If two or more are fumbling around to put a half Nelson on him, he might escape complete suffocation.

Leaning On The Law Of Averages

Government weather forecasts seem to lean heavily on the law of averages. When they start predicting rain, or fair weather, they adhere to that line until the predictions and the weather jibe.

Andtidote For Phonies: Ambassador Moynihan

Based only on his recent public utterances, too much or too little — depending upon the view — may be expected of Daniel Patrick Moynihan as he takes up his new duties as United States ambassador to the UN. The scrappy former ambassador to India has been sharply critical of the hypocrites stationed at the UN who see or invent faults for the U.S. but are blind to them elsewhere.

There are many Americans who believe, also, it is time for a trimming down of some of these critics in the world organization. Chances are, however, there will not be any fiery denunciations from the podium by Ambassador Moynihan, not right away at least.

As a man with some diplomatic experience under his belt, Moynihan knows the object is to win friends and influence others to support U.S. positions. As with any new diplomatic assignment, his first task will be to get to know the strengths and weaknesses of the personalities with whom he will be dealing.

One has the feeling, however, that the time will come when some of the phoniness which exists in abundance in the glass tower in New York will bubble to the surface. Right there ready to pop it will be the sharp humor and frank rhetoric of Daniel Moynihan.

PENETRATOR APPEARS 'WASTEFUL'

Editor,
The I-94 penetrator road (proposed between Cleveland and Washington avenues) into St. Joseph appears purely wasteful to me — but the need for improved access and traffic flow is vital! Why not widen Niles Avenue (US-31-33) from Hilltop Road to the City of Niles to four lanes? As a commuter driving daily from St. Joseph to Buchanan, this solution appears most logical, as the I-94 exit and entrance near Hollywood Road render good access.

Also, why not improve the I-94 "half-exit" at Red Arrow highway (south of Glenford road) to full service to enter or exit both directions?

Above comments are not intended to reflect on the state highway department or any functions pro or con the penetrator, but is not efficient, practical use of funds preferred (extending width of Niles to 4 lanes) instead of extreme waste of money, time, material and ecological iness resulting from running a road parallel to two roads in existence?

POSTAL SERVICE IS DEFENDED

Editor,
Returning from an out of town trip, I was going thru the back issues of the Herald-Palladium which had piled up while I was away. Couldn't help notice the edition of, dated Thursday 10 July 75. Referring to the editorial regarding the United States Postal service, I would like to comment to the 5 paragraphs that make up this editorial.

I am one of numerous individuals using the Postal Service, and, fortunate enough to be employed by this organization for the past 16 years.

The 1st and 2nd paragraphs make referral to a possible repetition of 1870 — an 8 day illegal national strike. As of this writing no notice has been received informing us of such action. But, for now, let us accept your editorial statement, "Such utterances fall into the realm of bargaining oratory".

Paragraph 4, comment is regarding present contract negotiation. Question: Just how, and where did you get this information? Thus far neither management, nor labor have made any official statements as to what is being negotiated. Frankly, those of us in the postal service haven't had any official comment regarding negotiations. We certainly would like to know your source of information!

As for paragraphs 3 and 5; if private firms can deliver cheaper and faster, and do a better job than we in the Postal Service can, get them. Again, quoting your editorial, "Under restrictive wraps some such firms are doing a better job with certain types of deliveries". Let us assume that some 70% of 1st class mail is business mail. This 70% would be handled by private firms cheaper and faster than USPS can. What happens to the remaining 30%?

We Are Only Fooling Ourselves

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — We may have negotiated ourselves into a dangerous corner in our missile agreements with the Soviet Union.

Melvin Laird, former Defense secretary and one of President Ford's closest intimates, says the Russians are violating the strategic arms limits. Not so, say Mr. Ford and present Defense Secretary James Schlesinger.

So far as this reporter can determine, all three men are correct. Technically, the Soviet Union may not be violating the treaty. Actually it is engaged in a deliberate flouting of the understandings.

But it's our own fault. We forgot, in our dealing with the Russians, the common rules of caution known by any old-fashioned horse trader. We have neglected to cross each "i" and dot each "i". And that has been our undoing.

The pact, as Laird accurately points out, severely limits improvements in antiballistic missile systems. The testing of ABM radar is prohibited. But by some slipup the papers we signed do not prohibit the development and testing of other radar that just might happen to be useful for superior ABM systems. Under this loophole the Russians have tested ABM radar under another name.

As American officials read the treaty, there was to be a limit on the total or over-all increase in the size of the larger missiles. As the Russians read the pact, the increase is allowed in each dimension of each missile, which enables Moscow to up the over-all size of their weapons by 30 per cent instead of the 15 per cent we thought we had agreed to.

This is not a mere honest difference of opinion. The American negotiators wanted strict definitions. The Soviet Union refused. This, of course, should have alerted careful men that the Russians had something in mind. But it did not alert Secretary of State Kissinger. He agreed to the loose wording. And then we went further and took a course of action that can only be described as insane.

That is, after the negotiations had failed to get Russian agreement on preciseness, we unilaterally announced our own understanding of what had been agreed to, thus seemingly binding the United States to a strict interpretation of the arrangement while leaving the Russians free to interpret in any way which best suits their purposes.

Technically, of course, since the Russians are building missiles much larger than our reading of what the pact permits, the United States could do the same. Except that the hands of the top men in our government are so tied by our interpretations, corrective action may be psychologically impossible.

Now the Russian leaders are cautious men. They have, in the course of history, taken few chances. That went for Stalin and for Khrushchev, and goes now for Brezhnev. They probe carefully. If there's no reaction, or if the reaction is weak, they exploit the opening. If the reaction is strong, they withdraw.

Russian probing has a long history — the Berlin blockade, the emplacement of missiles in Cuba, the taking of the Pueblo by the North Koreans, the cautious buildup of the North Vietnamese with offensive equipment after the peace treaty. Each successful probe was followed by action. Each blocked probe was followed by a Russian backoff. The signs are that this is another probe.

Ford Courting Conservatives

Beginning with the Mayaguez operation, President Gerald Ford has undertaken a series of actions doubtless inspired by various motives but which have the common denominator of appealing to the conservative wing of the Republican Party. This has come none too soon, however, and Ford's conservative problem may also be a bit more complicated than he thinks it is.

Thodore White has retired as a campaign chronicler, but if he were to change his mind and write "The Making of the President 1976," he would be perceptive if he began Ford's quest for the nomination with the Mayaguez rescue. Prior to that Ford had been cleaning up loose ends from the Nixon Administration. Since then he has gone over to the offensive, and had a number of anti-inflationary votes sustained — the farm bill, bills on jobs, strip mining, housing.

This has been balm for the wounds of fiscal conservatives and almost certainly good economics. Contrary to liberal pundits like Tom Wicker, the important long-range issue is inflation — and not unemployment, and this is especially true for Ford's potential constituency. His speech on crime was also a plus for him. The erstwhile Imperial Congress, meanwhile, has undergone virtual Stassenization, and stands at 15 per cent public approval in the polls.

Sources in the White House are saying that Ford plans a number of other moves attractive to conservatives and stimulating to the economy, such as de-regulation.

Ford has even bowed tentatively in the direction of the "Southern strategy" by selecting former Army Secretary Howard "Bo" Callaway to run his campaign. A Georgia millionaire, Callaway represents the newly Republican affluent South — a Southern appeal to be sure, though certainly not as broad as one as it may at first seem. In coming out against gun registration, Ford appealed to primordial conservative feelings. Hard-line conservatives look at Spain in 1936 and at Portugal today, and they muse that, all and all, a few guns in the closet may not be a bad idea. Quite a few people in England today are having the same thoughts.

Ford's Nixon pardon also fits nicely into the picture here, for all the criticism of it at the time. There remains in the country an irreducible core of Nixon loyalists, probably around 20 per cent, plus a rather larger number who feel that he probably suffered an unduly harsh fate.

Nevertheless, what all these Ford moves amount to in cold political terms is an anti-Reagan strategy, calculated to erode conservative support for the challenge being prepared by the former California governor. Its themes are anti-Communist and military (Mayaguez, tough talk on Korea), free market (deregulation), anti-spending (the vetoes), and mild Southern strategy (Callaway).

What Ford has not even begun to bite into is another kind of conservatism, greatly strengthened during the past decade. It has a number of labels: the New Right, populism, and so forth, but "populist conservatism" is as good as any.

Ford appears to be tone deaf as regards this key constituency.

At the moment, Ford has been addressing himself to some features of his Reagan problem, and may have made some headway. But he is deluding himself if he thinks that Reagan is his only problem.

BH Board Gets Low Rates On $1 Million

The Benton Harbor board of education yesterday awarded two construction contracts, totaling $38,352, and borrowed $1 million against state aid income at interest rates averaging less than 5 per cent.

Action was taken at a special noon session at the school district's administration office, 711 East Britain avenue.

Construction contracts were awarded on a low bid of $37,242 from Gosnick Construction Co., storage building behind the high school gymnasium, and a low bid of $21,110 from Consumers Asphalt Paving Co., Zoschke road, Benton township, to install a new parking lot to the north of the existing lot at senior high school.

A $1 million state aid anticipation note was split between Farmers and Merchants National bank, Benton Harbor, which will lend $500,000 at an interest rate of 3.85 per cent; and Michigan National bank, Battle Creek, which will lend the remaining $500,000 at an interest rate of 4.68 per cent.

The interest averages out to 4.27 per cent, termed low on today's market by Robert W. Payne, deputy superintendent for administrative service for the district.

Payne said while Farmers and Merchants National bank offered the lowest interest of three bidders, the F & M only would bid on up to $500,000. Michigan National bank offered the full $1 million, but at the slightly higher 4.68 per cent. Payne said Inter-City bank of Benton Harbor bid on only $250,000 at an interest rate of 4.75 per cent.

The note will be dated Aug. 15, 1975, and mature Sept. 1, 1976, with an option to pay it off sooner.

The storage building will house athletic equipment formerly kept in the cafeteria. The building will be one floor, with access from the rear, or west side, of the gym. It will extend 40 feet into the parking area behind senior high and be built to accommodate a second floor, if needed in the future.

Six other firms presented bids ranging from $38,465 to $49,715.

Besides Consumers Asphalt, two firms submitted bids for the parking lot, one at $24,840, the other at $35,264.

'Watch Out For Ducks' Signs Needed

Signs warning motorists that they are in a deer crossing area are common in Michigan. But how about signs saying "Watch Out For Ducks." Ralph Lhotka, a former Benton Harbor city commissioner, thinks such signs are needed this time of year.

Lhotka said he stopped on Riverview drive to permit Mother Duck and brood a safe crossing. High water levels this summer have given ducks a plethora of places to paddle and they're crossing roads to find new ponds to explore, Lhotka observed.

Mercy Has New Heart Surgeon

Jorge O. Just, M.D., has been appointed to the Mercy hospital medical staff with privileges in cardiovascular and thoracic surgery, according to C. T. Loftis, Mercy hospital executive vice president.

Dr. Just was graduated from the University of Maryland Medical school and served an internship at Pennsylvania hospital in Philadelphia. He was a resident at the University of Maryland hospital in general surgery and was a junior clinical instructor at the University of Michigan. He trained in the open heart and thoracic surgery program at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Just has been practicing his specialty of cardiac surgery and thoracic surgery in Puerto Rico since 1967. He is board certified by both the American Board of Surgery and by the American Board of Thoracic Surgery. He is a member of the New York Academy of Sciences, the Southeastern Surgical conference, the Maryland Surgical society, the John Alexander Surgical society, a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and a member of the Southern Thoracic Surgical association. He is the author of 32 scientific papers and exhibitions which have been presented at scientific meetings and has, in addition, published over 54 articles in various professional publications.

Dr. Just will be residing in the area with his wife and daughter. His office will be located at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor.

In addition to Dr. Just's surgical practice, he will aid in the continuance of the open heart surgery program inaugurated at Mercy hospital late in 1973. Alfred Lail, M.D., who performed the first open heart surgery in the area at Mercy hospital, left the community to accept a university appointment in Los Angeles, Calif.

Man's Body Recovered From Lake

SAUGATUCK — A body believed to be that of Paul Langlois Jr., 18, Dorr, was recovered yesterday from Lake Michigan, according to Allegan county sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said a positive identification has not yet been made of the body that was sighted by occupants of a pleasure boat off Saugatuck's south pier.

Langlois was believed swept off the pier about 4:45 p.m., July 8. He was reported swept into the lake by high waves as he fished from the pier.

A car and fishing equipment near the pier were identified as belonging to Langlois, deputies said.

BETTER WATER WEEK
DENVER (AP) — "Better Water for People Week" will be celebrated this year Aug. 16-17. Water utilities throughout North America will be observing the event during this period. The annual event is sponsored by the American Water Works Assn. here.

BH Girl Injured In Crash

A Benton Harbor girl received minor injuries in a two-car accident Wednesday afternoon at the intersection of Empire and Ogden avenues.

Joann Youngman, 16, of 1088 Union street, a passenger in one of the autos, was treated at Mercy hospital for cuts. The driver of the car she was riding in, Donna R. Watkins, 16, of 5605 Newton, Columbia, was not injured, but was issued a ticket for failure to stop in a safe, assured distance, Benton Harbor police said.

Driver of the other car was Raymond F. Rennaker, 69, of 969 Enders street, Benton township.

Teachers Back From Workshop

Two Twin Cities area teachers have returned from a three-week Newspaper-in-the-Classroom workshop on the University of Wisconsin campus, Madison, Wis.

Sponsored at the workshop by The Herald-Palladium were Juanita Nielsen, a teacher at North Shore school in the Benton Harbor system, and Caroline Petlick, a teacher at Lake Michigan Catholic Middle school.

The two teachers will conduct a local workshop at Lake Michigan college sometime during the next school year for interested teachers in southwestern Michigan who use newspapers in their classrooms as teaching tools.

Mrs. Petlick, whose own children have had newspaper delivery routes for a combined total of some 32 years, described her personal experiences at the workshop. Her speech, in fact, earned her an invitation to address an annual midwest newspaper circulation executives convention this fall.

Carpenters End Strike

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — An 11-week strike by Flint and Saginaw Valley area carpenters has ended. By a vote of 411-164, members of the Saginaw Valley District Council approved a one-year contract calling for wage increases of 70 cents an hour with the Associated General Contractors. Council officials reported today. The strike, which started April 30, had slowed many construction projects including the Midland nuclear plant being built by Consumers Power Co. Although there are 2,100 members in the union, only about 25 per cent voted on the pact, union officials said. The votes were taken in Flint, Saginaw, Midland and Bay City and tabulated in Saginaw.

Robbery Suspect Acquitted

A Benton Harbor man was acquitted in Berrien circuit court yesterday of an armed robbery charge stemming from a hold-up last November at a Sodus store.

Jurors in Judge William S. White's court deliberated only 50 minutes before returning the innocent verdict for Charles C. Byrd, 23, of 149 Kline avenue.

Byrd was accused in connection with a Nov. 25 hold-up at Bennie's resale store, on Townline road, in which Beatrice Dickerson, 54, was robbed of about $20 by one of two men who had a gun. The victim also pulled a gun during the robbery, and fired one shot at the men as they fled from the store.

The woman testified Byrd was the man who pointed a gun at her during the robbery, but another prosecution witness, Larry Barlow, who previously pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery in exchange for testimony and dismissal of other armed robbery charges, told the jury another man had the gun during the robbery.

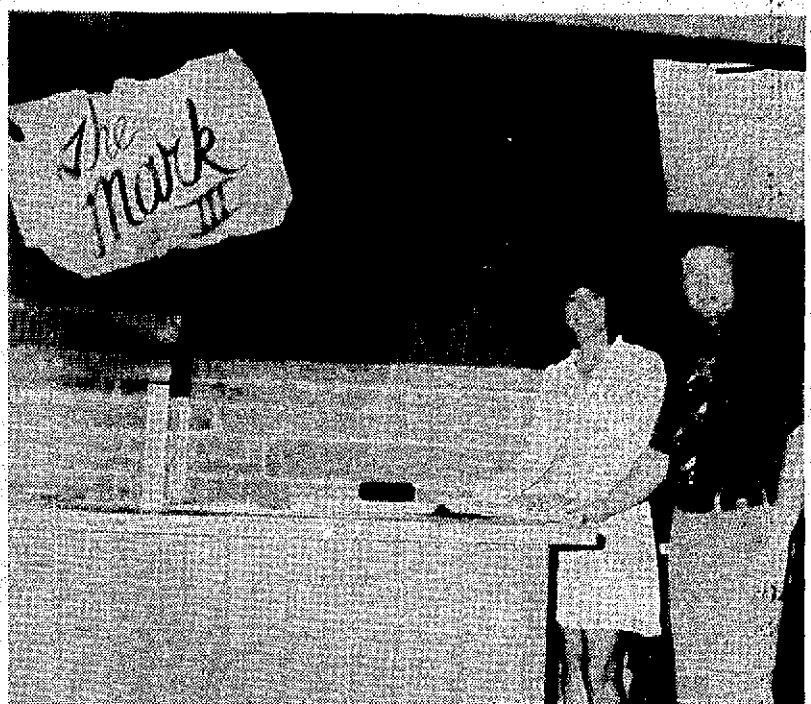

Opposing counsel during the 1½-day trial were St. Joseph Atty. Jack Struwin and Asst. Prosecutor Sally Zack.

Children Blamed In Two Fires

Benton Harbor firemen blamed unidentified children playing with matches for two small fires Wednesday, one in a field, the other in a garage.

Fire in a field in Hall park, off East High street, burned about a 30 square foot area, but no buildings were damaged, firemen said.

Firemen said damage to a garage at a home on Edwards avenue was minor, mostly from smoke. Firemen identified the owner of the home as Violet Mills, 547 Edwards. No one was at home when firemen arrived.

NEW DINING ROOM: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Camp, formerly of Evanston, Ill., purchased the Royal motel, M-139 at Scottsdale, June 1, 1972, obtained a Class C liquor license in July, 1974, then a fire in the kitchen of their restaurant inflict heavy damage Jan. 13, 1975. They have since extensively remodeled the restaurant, renamed it the Mark III and plan seven-day operations, starting Sunday. Camp formerly was national sales manager for Cenco X-Ray of Chicago, a division of Cenco Instruments. (Staff photo)

Summer Youth Job Program Successful

Berrien County Commissioner Nancy Clark, chairman of the planning and social services committee, reported this morning to the county board on the Summer Youth Employment program, funded by the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) and run by the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Clark said that as of Wednesday, only halfway through the program, 652 young people had been placed in jobs, more than three times last year's total results.

She said the Summer Youth Employment office at 345 12th street, Benton Harbor, opened its doors on May 30 for the specific purpose of placing area youth between the ages of 12 and 21 in jobs. The program has four phases, she said, the farm program, the private sector, rent-a-youth and the public sector.

More than 1,200 applications have been taken from students at nine high schools in Berrien county seeking summer employment, she reported.

A staff was hired to cover the areas of concentration, she explained. A questionnaire was sent to all fruit farmers in Berrien county to explain the program and seek their commitment for farm jobs. A similar questionnaire was sent to all chamber of commerce members and the major industries in Berrien county. The response in both instances was poor. Therefore, an all-out effort was made by the chamber staff to personally contact farmers and major industrial firms.

Through this effort, jobs started opening up, mainly in the farm sector.

Mrs. Clark said young people hired under a $110,000 grant to the chamber had been put in public service type of work for governmental units and school districts. She said the youth were put in crews of ten, with a college student hired as a foreman for each crew. This program was operational by July 1.

She said the crews were working at the following sites: Niles area, two crews; Benton Harbor high school, two crews; Lincoln township, two crews; Chikaming township, one crew; St. Joseph city, one crew; St. Joseph township, one crew; Watervliet city, one crew; and Gallon schools, one crew. She said requests that came in for crews after July 1 were from the Berrien Springs, Historical Society; Buchanan school; Bridgman school and Coloma township. Mrs. Clark said all effort will be made to switch crews to these sites prior to the end of the program.

Berrien Takes Over Its NYC

The Berrien county Neighborhood Youth Corps program has a new sponsor but will continue uninterrupted, Walter Laetz, chairman of the Berrien County Manpower Council, announced today.

Laetz said the executive committee of the county Manpower Council, distributor of county Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) federal funds, voted yesterday to accept the 30-day termination notice of the contract with the Tri-County Council for Child Development, Inc., which had been operating the county NYC program.

The NYC program will now be sponsored by Berrien county through the Manpower Planning Council effective Aug. 9, according to Laetz.

Laetz said the change in sponsorship will in no way affect or interrupt the program. The present staff will be retained and young people enrolled in the program will continue working in their jobs, he said in a letter to Laetz, the Tri-County Council for Child Development Council cited these reasons for its termination of contract:

"1. Items specifically requested in writing (from Berrien county) to be included in contract, were not so included.

"2. Failure of the Berrien MPB (Manpower Planning

Mrs. Clark explained the program has proven an exceptional learning experience, especially for the college students who have been serving as foremen. Their responsibility begins with the termination of any worker if necessary. To date, she said, there have been approximately 15 terminations of workers for various reasons. She said the work at many sites is strenuous and the young people are learning the value of a good days work.

Board) to negotiate the contract with our council.

"3. Failure of the Berrien MPB to provide a contract in a timely manner so that it could be reviewed by the council before it was necessary to sign on faith in order to prevent harm to the clients served under the contract."

The letter was signed by Maxine Ivens, chairman of Tri-County Council for Child Development, route 1, Decatur. Neighborhood Youth Corps is separate from the Youth Employment Program which Berrien County Commissioner Nancy Clark reported today had placed 652 Berrien young people in summer jobs.

Neighborhood Youth Corps has a $296,000 budget for some 340 jobs with nonprofit agencies.

NYC became a controversial issue at the June 30 meeting of the Benton Harbor city commission when it was announced the program was folding because a contract had not been signed by the Berrien CETA board (Berrien Manpower Council). However, the CETA board had signed the contract and sent it to the Tri-County Council for Child Development, and the program continued.

The Manpower Council or CETA board allocates and monitors the federal CETA funds in Berrien county.

BH Pair's Kin Playing Role In Push For Black Job Slots

The son-in-law of a Benton Harbor couple is playing a key role in the organization and operation of Black Associates In State Employment.

Vance Sims, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. William Whitelaw, 614 Waukonda avenue, is first vice president of BASE, organized in 1974 to promote the interests of blacks in state employment.

The Lansing State Journal reported BASE has a membership of 80 among the estimated 5,000 to 8,000 blacks employed in state government.

Sims, a field representative for the Michigan Department of Civil Rights, said BASE plans to monitor job openings and spot discrimination problems.

The State Journal quoted him as saying so far BASE has helped 12 blacks get into state government and intends to seek more black applicants. Base also supported an expanded certification program, permitting state agencies to hire from civil services beyond the top three test scores.

Sims' wife is the former Mary Lou Whitelaw. He is from Muskegon, and they met while she was employed by Tri-CAP and he came to Benton Harbor while working with a migrant program.

SARETT NATURE CENTER: Tours of Sarett Nature Center, Benton Center road, Benton Harbor, are held Sundays at 2 p.m. for members and the public. Other tours are also available for groups by arrangement with the center. The center was dedicated in 1965 as a wildlife sanctuary of the State of Michigan. Charles Nelson is the director-naturalist at the center. The tours cover approximately 2½ miles and last from an hour to an hour and a half. Visitors can see a variety of plant and animal life as they walk the woodcock loop, hickory loop and river trail. A view of this wax wings pond is available from one of the platforms on the center grounds.

RARE: Among the rare flowers found at Sarett Nature Center is this purple-fringed orchid which grows in bottom land.

DELICATE: The tall meadow rue found in the wet meadows and marshes of Sarett Nature Center appear as delicate as miniature chandeliers stirring in the summer breezes.

FEEDERS: While most people set up bird feeders only in winter, Sarett Nature Center maintains bird feeders year around. Near the center building are three types of feeders including the long log at right.

ANTS' DEMISE: The pitcher plant which grows in bog areas traps and digests ants which crawl onto the opening and slip down and are trapped.

IN BLOOM: One plant most people avoid is poison ivy, but when it blooms, its flowers are shaped almost like miniature lilac blooms.

LOOK UP: Among the many sights on a tour at Sarett Nature Center is this nest habitat for woodcocks and woodpeckers.

SPITTLE BUG: For visitors to Sarett Nature Center who look closely small things can provide some of the most interesting sights. This spittle bug, tiny as it is, has a unique method of protection. Here, the bug is only a dot on a fingernail but he will create froth on the plant to hide himself from birds.

MICROSCOPIC VIEW: A tiny frog and tadpoles in various stages of development are barely visible in the palm of a hand. Other specks are duckweed.

Culinary Discovery

CAPE KENNEDY — At the National Space Institute breakfast Tuesday, July 15, preceding the Apollo launching from Pad 39 at Kennedy Space Center, an important culinary discovery was made.

Russia and America have the blueberry in common. It turns out that the beloved blueberry has been involved with the cultural heritage of both the Russian and American peoples over more than 200 years.

A blueberry fruit cup was the first course at the breakfast, which was hosted by Dr. Werner von Braun, president of the Institute. One hundred and fifty guests enjoyed the breakfast devised and prepared by famous Chef Louis Szathmari, advisory to the Space Institute on the psychological aspects of space feeding.

From the time of the Tartars, Russian women have made a preparation from blueberries called Chernika, designed to soothe upset stomachs. When the first explorers landed in the New World, they found that blueberries were here before them. Samuel de Champlain reported finding Indians drying blueberries for winter store, using them as a meat preservative and in combination with meal to make a delicious dish called "Sautauting."

Designated an all-American fruit, the cultivated blueberry is a significant part of the Bicentennial celebration. It is not produced commercially anywhere else in the world.

The National Space Institute is a non-profit educational and scientific organization dedicated to communicating the benefits of our national space program to the American public and to provide the public with a voice in the direction of the program.

Gast-Jung Vows

Lutheran Church of the Shepherd King, West Bloomfield, was the setting June 21 for the wedding of Miss Deborah Ann Jung and Warren E. Gast Jr.

The Rev. Donald F. Jung, pastor of the church and father of the bride, and the Rev. William E. Woldt, mission counselor, English district of Lutheran church-Missouri Synod, performed the ceremony.

The Rev. and Mrs. Jung reside in West Bloomfield. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Gast, 2718 Lakeview, St. Joseph.

The bride wore a sateen and illusion empire gown trimmed with applied Venice lace. A Juliet cap trimmed with matching lace held her fingertip veil and she carried sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Cathy Jung, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Randall Ash, Mrs. Charles Blesse and Miss Laurie Schmidtke.

Scott Frank was ringbearer.

Serving as best man was Karl Frick. Ushers were Paul Halverson, David Jung, brother of the bride, Brian and Kevin Gast, brothers of the groom, and Kevin Jung, brother of the bride.

A reception was held at Mercy Center, Farmington.

Following a wedding trip to Cocoa Beach and Disney World, Fla., the couple will make their home in Chicago, Ill.

The bride and groom are graduates of Concordia Junior college, Ann Arbor; and Concordia Teachers college, River Forest, Ill. The bride plans to teach in a Chicago area school and her husband is a junior high school teacher at St. James Lutheran school, Chicago.

MRS. WARREN GAST JR. Deborah Jung

Hold Concerts At Castle

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Symphony has started three Bicentennial concerts, at Castle Clinton, in Lower Manhattan's Battery park.

The first was May 24. On July 4, Morton Gould conducted unusual works by esteemed American composers. The Jenny Lind Concert, Sept. 11, will be a reenactment of the concert of 1850 when 8,000 persons heard the "Swedish Nightingale." The Swedish government has invited a leading coloratura of the Stockholm Opera to appear. Both concerts will begin at 7 p.m. and will be free.

Sponsor is the American Landmark Festivals, in cooperation with the National Park Service.

Fort Clinton was begun in 1803 to defend New York Harbor against the British fleet. After the War of 1812, the fort, called Castle Gardens, was the site of music and other entertainment events. Later, it was the New York Aquarium. In 1980 it was declared a national monument and Congress has given nearly $2 million to restore it.

Diets Need Fiber

Fiber, although it is not a nutrient, may be one of the most important nutritional contributions of vegetables.

Recent medical focus on the role of fiber in the diet indicates that it may be extremely important to the healthy functioning of the digestive system.

Next to bran from cereal grains, vegetables and fruits are our best sources of fiber in the diet.

Open House Saturday

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Candidates For The 'Hatch'

Dear Ann Landers: Somebody in this group is crazy and I am asking your opinion. Which one is it?

Recently we were visiting a campsite. Mr. B discovered a snake under a board and ran away yelling language that is unprintable. Mr. T caught the snake (non-poisonous) and chased Mr. B for two country miles "just to scare him a little."

Mr. C watched all the action and Mr. T, who was holding the snake at arm's length, was laughing his head off!

Then Mr. C walked up to Mr. T and said, "I have always been a follower of the Golden Rule. Do unto others as ye would have them do unto you." Snakes bite people and I believe in getting even!"

With that, Mr. C bit the snake and I got sick to my stomach. Who is crazy? — Jackson, Miss.

Dear Jack: Mr. C is the leading candidate for the hatch, with Mr. T his possible roommate.

Turn About

Dear Ann Landers: I want to know if it's normal for a wife to be upset when she finds $30 in her husband's billfold and he says he is saving the money to buy her a lovely birthday gift. Then, when her birthday comes around, he shows up with a cake from the bakery and hollers, "Surprise!"

I took a part-time job and saved $80 for that jerk's birthday gift. When he hands me something that cost $11 — especially after lying about the money in his wallet — I feel that he is being selfish and unfair. Any advice? — Let Down Plenty

Dear L.D. Plenty: The next time The Last of the Big Spenders has a birthday show up with an $11 cake and holler, "Surprise!"

Life Teacher

Dear Ann Landers: May I be you today? I want to give some advice to all the widows in the world who are longing to remarry.

When my husband died I was sure my life was finished. We had a beautiful marriage and I was certain I could never look at another man. Several months later the loneliness set in. I BEGAN TO ACCEPT INVITATIONS FROM INTERESTING BACHELORS AND WIDOWERS. One day a very attractive man asked me to marry him. I said yes.

Here are the questions I wish I had asked myself: 1. Does the man have children? 2. How do THEY feel about his remarrying? 3. Do the children get along with one another or are they still fighting about their mother's estate?

4. What about YOUR children? Does the gentleman want to include them in HIS family circle?

5. When decisions are made will he consult you or does he go to his children?

6. Does the man really want YOU or is he looking for someone to take care of him? Had I asked myself these questions I would not have put myself through three years of hell.

I'm out of that marriage now, thank God, regaining my health and enjoying "widowhood!" — something I never thought possible. — Learned The Hard Way

Dear Learned: Thanks for the lesson. I'm sorry Life was your teacher.

Summer Medley Flower Show

SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven Garden club will present its 11th annual flower show, "Medley of Summer," Saturday, July 26.

The show will be held in the American Legion home, 129 Michigan avenue, from 2 to 8 p.m.

Exhibitors may register entries in advance with Mrs. L.H. Lundy, 820 Lee street. Competition is open to all amateur gardeners. Exhibits will be received from 8 to 10 a.m. the day of the show, and will be removed between 8 and 8:30 p.m.

Divisions include Artistic division, Medley of Summer, and Horticultural and Junior divisions.

Mrs. Harry Greenman is chairman of the event, assisted by Mrs. Meredith Cleveland, Mrs. Elsie Leist, staging; Mrs. John Schiele, entries; Mrs. Mabel Myley, placement, and Mrs. Lester Stainer, publicity.

High Honor Is Given

BUCHANAN — Mrs. James Morgan has been invested with the red stole, indicative of the highest honor in the College of Regents, for Buchanan Chapter 450, Women of the Moose.

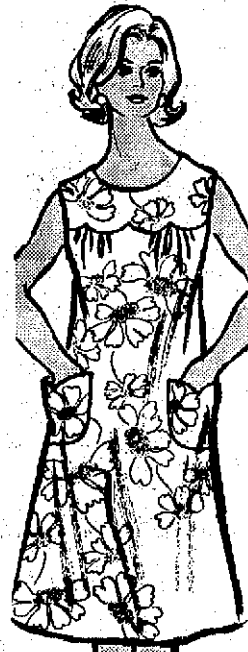

Installed were Mrs. May Swain, chapter treasurer; Mrs. Louis Wesaw, Moosehaven chairman, and Mrs. Carl Shogren, membership chairman.

The chapter has donated $100 to the Meals On Wheels fund and two books to the Buchanan public library.

In their system the simple rebid to three spades said, "Partner, I really should bid game, but am giving you leeway in case you raised me to two with almost nothing."

Hence, North goes on to four.

The hand fit perfectly. South has to lose two club tricks, but can ruff his last club. The six of diamonds is discarded on the queen of hearts and in spite of the spade finesse being wrong South makes his four spades.

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from Winnipeg asks: "Why do you open one club with this hand?"

♥ K J 4 3 ♥ K 7 6 ♦ A 8 4 ♠ K 9 7

This is normal correct procedure and has been so for over 40 years. The idea is to facilitate rebidding while showing at the one level that your spade suit is just a four-carder. When you do open one club with this type of hand and partner raises to two clubs, don't rebid — just pass.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

North's raise to two spades is the correct bid with his hand. It is worth eight points in support of spades.

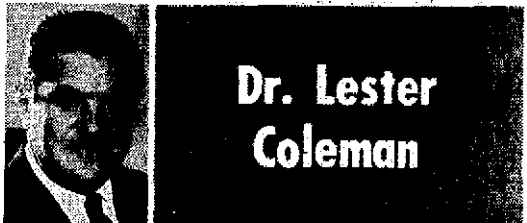

South has 13 high-card points and two doubletons so his hand counts as 15. However, he should rebid his hand upward because an immediate raise allows you to add one point for your fifth trump and two for each additional one. Thus, his hand has become an 18 pointer and he might well jump right to the spade game.

Why does he only rebid to three spades? Because he and his partner were playing standard American in which he single raise might be made with as little as six supporting points.

Two of my older sisters developed thyroid trouble after they were married. I'm contemplating marriage and I wonder if I, too, will have this trouble.

Miss O.E., Tex.

Dear Miss E.: I doubt that there is any relationship between marriage and overactivity of the thyroid gland.

A special type of thyroid disorder produces an extra quantity of the thyroid hormone. There may be enlargement of the thyroid gland in the neck known as a "goiter."

Associated with such a condition is a tendency towards marked perspiration, nervousness and bouts of emotional instability.

Crying without marked provocation, loss of weight and rapid heartbeat are only a few of the symptoms which direct the doctor's attention to the possibility that a thyroid condition exists.

A group of blood tests, particularly the proteinbound iodine (PBI) test, can readily determine if a thyroid disturbance exists.

This would give you the reassurance you need and remove the anxiety you seem to suffer.

The strides in the treatment of thyroid disease have been enormous. Radioactive drugs and anti-thyroid medication have, in recent years, spared people with overactive thyroids the need for the surgery that once as the only means to control it.

Are hunger pains always a symptom of ulcers?

Mr. J.C., Conn.

Dear Mr. C.: Hunger pains occur with many other conditions. Therefore they cannot be used for the self-diagnosis of a chronic ulcer.

Spasms of the muscles of the stomach, especially when it is empty, produce the gnawing sensation called "hunger pains."

A pattern of hunger pains that are relieved by food may suggest to the doctor the possibility that a stomach ulcer or a duodenal ulcer may exist. When this is suspected, X-rays of the stomach can readily reveal the absence or presence of an ulcer.

The cycle of hunger pain, relieved by food or milk is the reason why frequent meals of a bland diet, free of alcohol or coffee, are recommended.

Film Actress In SJ Hospital

Mercedes McCambridge, 57, an actress who won an Academy Award in her first screen role, was hospitalized in St. Joseph Wednesday with acute bronchitis and laryngitis.

Robert Bradburn, administrator at Memorial Hospital, said the actress was admitted Wednesday morning. He said she was in good condition but probably will be hospitalized several days.

John Putzke, producer at the Tin Tree Theater in New Buffalo, said Miss McCambridge has been starring since July 8 in its production of "Minnie's Boys." Her appearance in the play where she had the role of mother of the Marx brothers was due to end Sunday.

Putzke said his wife, Marge, will substitute while Miss McCambridge is hospitalized. The producer said Miss McCambridge was taken to the hospital immediately after suffering the attack about 7:30 a.m.

Once known as one of the world's greatest radio actresses and a Broadway favorite, Miss McCambridge won an Academy Award for Best Supporting Actress in 1950 when she appeared in "All the King's Men."

Then came two divorces, two still-born children and a descent into what she admitted was alcoholism.

In recent years, she resumed her movie career with roles in such films as "The Godfather" but still spent several weeks annually touring the country to lecture about alcoholism.

Mystery Bird Is 'Daffy'

ROSEVILLE, Mich. (AP) — At last — Michigan's Great Ornithology Puzzle is solved. Or is it?

The Mystery Bird of Roseville turns out to be just Daffy the Duck, part of Harry Easton's family.

The wayward, brown and white, web-footed bird roosted for two days in a station wagon in this Detroit suburb, defying attempts by bird experts and passersby to identify it.

Wednesday the fowl was spotted by its owner, Easton, and reclaimed.

But an aura of suspense surrounds Daffy even yet — Easton says he does not know what kind of bird it might be.

He says the bird was given to him by his brother-in-law, who thinks Daffy is some sort of hybrid between a rin of the mill Muscovy duck and "some strange Mexican goose or something."

Bird fanciers had puzzled over the animal's family tree for the two days it waddled around the station wagon.

WANTS STATION CLOSED. LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The Lagos Workers Union has called on the military government to close an American radio monitoring station that local newspapers here claim is run by the CIA.

Canadian Customs Holding Up Sex Picture Book For Children

TORONTO (AP) — Canadian customs officials have held up 1,000 copies of "Show Me," a sex picture book for children, and sent a copy to the Toronto police morality squad for examination.

A county attorney wrote the Macmillan Co. of Canada, the publishing firm that is trying to import the book, that it might be prosecuted if it tried to distribute it in York County.

masturbation, sexual intercourse, childbirth, cunnilingus and fellatio.

Hugh Kane, vice-chairman of Macmillan, said the company has not decided whether to try to go ahead with distribution of the book in Canada for its U.S. publisher, St. Martin's Press of New York.

"If the decision to publish had been made by us, there is no question. We would carry the case to the highest courts in the land.

"Canadians should have the privilege of deciding for themselves what to read or not. We thought this war was over 10 years ago with 'Lady Chatterley's Lover.'"

The book was first published in Germany. The American edition has sold 85,000 copies.

Show Business Tradition Lives

By ARLYS DERRICK
Women's Editor

The show DOES go on! Especially at the Tin Tree in New Buffalo when the star of the production goes into the hospital and a real trouper and a quick study like Marg Putzke undertakes the role at 10:30 in the morning and performs in both the matinee and evening shows that day.

Mercedes McCambridge who had been portraying the role of Minnie in "Minnie's Boys," entered St. Joseph Memorial hospital Wednesday morning.

Marg Putzke who is musical director for the show and who has been in numerous productions in the New Buffalo area, carries the role of Minnie in a lively and convincing manner.

She receives first rate support from the rest of the cast — from the young men who portray the Marx brothers (Larry Sill especially as Groucho) to the rest of the cast, all turning in professional performances.

In addition to Marg Putzke and Sill, the cast includes John Flower as Chico, William Dick, Harpo, Stan Pander, Zeppo, and Tom Marks, Gummo.

Curtain times are 8:45 p.m. Tuesdays through Friday, 9:30 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 p.m. Sunday with a Wednesday matinee at 2:30.

Files Won't Be Destroyed

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Files containing intimate details about applicants for jobs with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department won't be destroyed as originally reported, the sheriff says. Sheriff Johannes Spreen denied a comment from L. Lewis Doyle, who said Tuesday the files would be destroyed, although Doyle reiterated his earlier statement about the scheduled destruction. The files contain answers to questions about drinking, drug and sex habits given in the detector tests. Spreen also said the lie detector tests would continue, although improper questions will be deleted. A state lawmaker, Rep. Pat Nowak, R-Farmington, demanded earlier the lie detector tests be ended.

This Ride Cost $298

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Off-duty bus driver Gert Venter came across a stalled double-decker city bus and got it going.

He and some friends enjoyed what they thought was a free ride through the streets until the vehicle hit a tree.

It cost Venter $298. A Johannesburg court ordered him to pay the amount off in monthly installments to the Johannesburg City Council for damage to the bus.

Oil Executives Explaining Price Hikes To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid indications that the price of gasoline may go even higher by Labor Day, executives of seven oil companies are preparing to explain why prices have shot up 53 per cent in two years.

Some members of Congress have accused the companies of deliberately creating a shortage of gasoline to justify an average three-cent-per-gallon increase in prices at the start of the July 4 holiday.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb testified Wednesday that while gasoline inventories are abnormally low, he has seen nothing to indicate a general shortage is likely or that the oil companies were trying to push up prices.

The companies were to testify today before a joint hearing by the Senate Investigations subcommittee and the Commerce subcommittee on oil and gas production.

Zarb told the panels that gasoline refining dropped in May and June for a variety of reasons, including unforeseen operating problems.

He also urged Congress again to accept President Ford's energy plan that is aimed at forcing fuel conservation by raising prices.

"The responsibility for what is happening to consumers today and what will happen to them to an even greater degree in the months ahead rests with the Congress," Zarb said. He contended there is no way for the United States to reduce reliance on oil imports without raising prices.

The energy administrator, under questioning by Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said the gasoline prices could rise another two to five cents by Labor Day. But a spokesman for Zarb said later that what Zarb meant was that the oil companies have legal authority to raise gasoline prices by two to five cents between late June and Labor Day.

Most of the larger companies used three cents of that figure just before July 4.

The Federal Energy Administration estimates that any price hike will be around two cents, which would raise the nation's average cost of the regular gasoline to a record 61.2 cents.

Meanwhile, the Senate passed another energy bill that is almost certain to be vetoed by President Ford. The bill, which was worked out by a conference committee, would roll back the price of "new" U.S. oil from its current average of more than $12 to $11.25 a barrel.

Such an approach to the energy problem is opposite that recommended by Ford, who is seeking to raise the price of all U.S. oil to $13.50 a barrel within 30 months. The administration contends that sharply higher prices will force conservation and provide incentive for the energy industry to develop more fuel.

"New" oil is that amount of production above 1972 levels and is not subject to price controls.

The remainder, "old" oil, sells at the controlled price of $5.25. The bill passed by the Senate and sent to the House would generally retain the $5.25 freeze.

In other energy developments:

—The House resumed work on its own version of an energy conservation bill that also would force a rollback in "new" oil prices while allowing higher prices for "old" oil.

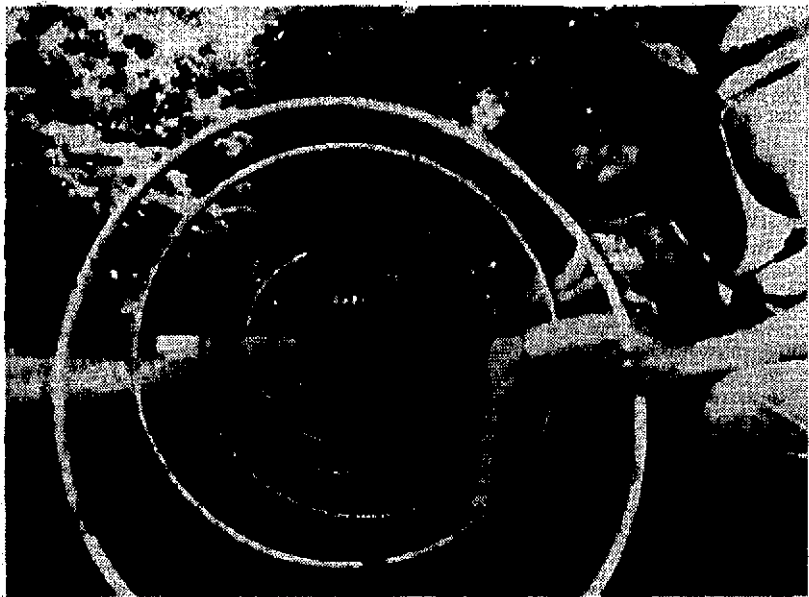

—The Senate Finance Committee, which is considering a House-passed energy-tax bill, was urged by the oil and gas industries to reject the measure on grounds it would hamper energy production and damage the economy.

—The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to authorize $300 million a year to help coastal states plan for the impact of offshore energy development.

—Canadian Energy Minister Donald MacDonald said exports of natural gas to the United States will be reduced as part of a program to alleviate widespread domestic shortages predicted for this winter.

Canadian natural gas exported to the United States accounts for 45 per cent of Canada's production but only 4.5 per cent of total U.S. demand.

Canadian oil exports to the United States already have been reduced and are scheduled to be eliminated by 1982.

Lower Credit Rating Cuts State's Borrowing Power

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A muddled budget and shaky economy have knocked Michigan's credit rating down a peg, threatening the state's ability to go to the money markets for needed capital.

The reduced rating spiked plans Wednesday for the state to borrow $175 million.

The state Administrative Board endorsed state Treasurer Allison Green's withdrawal of the sale of notes after Michigan's credit rating slipped.

"Once things are in order, we can make a better presentation (of the state's financial status) and get the higher rating," Green said.

Six weeks ago, Michigan got top ratings of "AAA" from Standard and Pears and "1" from Moody's on a multimillion-dollar bond issue to cover issuance of a Vietnam veterans' bonus.

But last Monday, one day before bids were to be taken, Moody's dropped its rating of the state to II. Standard and Pears remained at AAA.

The credit firms began giving ratings on notes as well as bonds recently because of financial problems in New York City and Massachusetts.

Green said Michigan's depressed economy and high jobless rate were among reasons for the rating drop.

In addition, he said, there is uncertainty because the legislature still is considering the 1975-76 budget and a proposed business tax overhaul, an integral part of the budget. He said the state also lacks 1974-75 fiscal data and is suffering from fluctuating revenue figures because of the slow processing of income tax refunds a year ago.

Gov. William Milliken predicted Wednesday the state would have a 1975-76 budget in two weeks. The fiscal year began July 1.

Green said notes with the lower credit rating would have been sold, but would have hurt Michigan's reputation. "Once we get a low rating, it's hard to get it raised," he said.

Meanwhile, the state is running a $141 million "red balance" in the general fund and the school aid fund, which should be wiped out by Aug. 1 by incoming tax revenues, Green said.

Eleven State Cattle Herds Quarantined In Outbreak

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An outbreak of an infectious cattle disease has forced the quarantine of 11 Michigan herds around the state, agriculture officials said Wednesday.

The new outbreak of brucellosis is the first found in Michigan in several years. A somewhat common problem in the dairy industry a decade or more ago, the disease had been virtually eliminated among herds in Michigan and most of the United States by a prolonged control program carried out by federal and state agriculture departments.

Blood tests of a single Huron County herd of 808 head has found over 238 cattle infected with brucellosis, a disease of the reproductive system.

Four other Huron County herds are quarantined, as are two in Allegan and one each in Tuscola and Oakland counties and the Upper Peninsula counties of Dickinson and Menominee. The five Huron County herds are in the northeast part of the county near Port Hope.

The infected cattle must be slaughtered for meat, officials said.

Regular slaughter house blood tests and routine milk tests will determine if the disease exists elsewhere in Michigan, officials said.

Officials said no danger exists to the public because the disease is transmitted to humans through raw, unpasteurized milk which is not sold, agriculture officials say.

In beef cattle, the disease-causing bacteria concentrate in reproductive organs which are discarded at slaughter, said Charles Cole, agriculture department assistant chief of animal health. Sunlight or normal cooking heat also destroy the bacteria, he said.

Farmers in contact with infected animals are told to have blood tests for undulant fever, which is similar to the flu but without vomiting, Cole said.

No cases of the disease in humans have been reported recently, officials said. The disease, so named because fever rises at night and drops in the morning, can be fatal if not treated but is curable.

Brucellosis is a major threat to cattle and swine in which it is incurable, though rarely fatal, Cole said. It can also attack other farm animals.

Officials are checking sales and purchases by owners of the infected herds to find how the disease was brought into Michigan, which has been relatively free of brucellosis for several years.

Quarantines will continue until cases of the disease stop cropping up.

Infected cows are branded and must be removed from the farm within 15 days. They are slaughtered and the meat is sold for human consumption, although packers are supposed to take special care in the process, especially in the handling of reproductive organs.

Milk from the infected animals is withheld from the market, but no attempt is made to recall milk already shipped.

The highly contagious disease mainly affects young heifers, 1 to 2 years old, but can occur in bulls and older females. It is transmitted among the animals through drinking water and other close contact.

Agriculture officials said the disease was uncovered during regular three-month checks of milk.

Farm officials said because of current economic conditions, some farmers may not have kept their calves vaccinated against the disease.

Michigan law requires that female animals be vaccinated before they may be sold as dairy and breeding animals.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is making another personal pitch to members of the House of Representatives to restore U.S. military aid to Turkey, cut off last February because of the Cyprus invasion.

Ford invited 135 House members — both Democrats and Republicans — to come to breakfast today with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to talk over Turkish aid compromise proposals.

Auto Rentals Target Of Class Action Suit Experts

By BOB DUBILL
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's three largest auto rental companies are the latest target for a group that seeks out class action suits for its members.

In this case the group claims there have been millions of dollars in overcharges at airports. The suit was filed by the Independent Investors Protective League, a group that claims a thousand members in 50 states.

The suit against Hertz, Avis and National Rent-A-Car System was filed after an antitrust complaint by the Federal Trade Commission charging them with conspiring to fix rental prices at major airports. The league alleges the companies overcharged customers an average of 20 per cent on each car rental.

"I assure you the car companies are afraid of our consumer class action," said I. Walton Bader, general counsel for the league. "The only thing the Federal Trade Commission can do is impose a light fine or get an order to stop price fixing. We are going for damages, $1.5 billion worth."

Class action suits permit a company or individual to represent not only themselves but all others in the same category in a single suit. As a practical matter, such cases seldom go to trial. They're either settled out of court or dismissed early in litigation.

In the car rental suit, the U.S. District Court in Brooklyn is certain to confront a cluster of questions from opposing lawyers.

Is there a valid claim? Are there common questions of law and fact? Is class action superior to other methods available? Should the case be confined to members of the league only, to every motorist who has rented a car at an airport, to the driver initiating the suit or none of the above? How many years has the alleged price-fixing conspiracy existed?

The suit charges that the companies had acted in collusion to fix identical or almost identical prices that were between 10 per cent and 40 per cent higher than those charged by competitors. It claims the corporations were guilty of antitrust violations during the past 10 years.

In its most recent ruling the U.S. Supreme Court held that costs must be borne by the class representative. This requires not only a rich plaintiff but one willing to take up the cudgel on behalf of others.

Enter the Independent Investors Protective League, a group of investors financing legal battles in courtrooms and corporate boardrooms through dues and contributions. The league differs from Ralph Nader's consumer advocates whose emphasis involves public interest issues such as the environment and automobile safety.

"We seek damage awards," said Bader. "We'll take about 100 cases a year."

"Our ratio of success is only about 25 per cent, including cases we discontinue before we start," said Bader. "The law favors big business. Companies operating on the fringe of liability have the benefit of top flight legal counsel. If the class action lawyer doesn't win a recovery he doesn't get a plugged nickel for his services."

Bader, a portly man in his mid 50s, logs an estimated million miles a year servicing his major client. His Manhattan law firm became general counsel to the league in 1972.

"I worked for a firm at a substantial retainer," he said. "The company was absorbed by a large conglomerate and after the merger I didn't want to be subordinate to anybody. Besides, I had made my money already. Normally this kind of law is profitable enough only for people who can afford it."

"You need investigators, researchers and clerks. A lot of young lawyers come here to work just for the training. The securities cases we could handle the cost would average about $300 per member. We'll get into a consumer case if it has merit and the members desire."

The car rental suit grew out of member complaints about rate differences between the big three companies and smaller firms located several miles away from airports.

"Our members travel a lot," said Bader. "Joseph Allen, a Cleveland builder traveled to Dallas-Fort Worth in connection with bonds of a company in bankruptcy. He found he could have rented a car for half the price but some distance from the airport. We knew that the FTC was investigating. Getting evidence and proof can be an overwhelming task. When the FTC complaint was filed we zeroed in."

Summer Gymnastics Registration Due In Bridgman July 25

BRIDGMAN — Bridgman's four-week summer gymnastics program gets underway Monday, July 28, according to Ted F. Tucker, Reed middle school principal. Tucker said registration for the program will be held at the school gym from 8 a.m. to noon Friday, July 25. A $10 fee will be collected at the time of enrollment, he said.

Kokomo Mail Plan 'Dehumanizing'

By DEIRDRE McNAMER
Associated Press Writer

RTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Mention the Kokomo Plan to almost any letter carrier in Portland and you'll hear stories of exploitation and warnings of a nationwide walkout.

"It's not a computerized mail system," said one mailman. "It's a computerized way of treating people."

The Kokomo Plan, known formally as the Letter Carriers Route Evaluation System (LACRES), is a mail delivery experiment launched in Kokomo, Ind., last November and at Portland's Rose City station in February. Although 1,000 more postal stations are being considered for the test, Kokomo and Portland are the only places it's been implemented.

The Postal Service says its an overdue attempt to pare the fat from an inefficient delivery system; letter carriers dub it a simple speed-up aimed at eliminating 15,000 jobs.

James H. Rademacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, said recently that unless the Kokomo Plan is discontinued after the Postal Service reviews it in August, "I have no alternative but to order a work stoppage."

Rademacher received authorization at the union's national convention last August to call a nationwide walkout, although postal unions are prohibited by law from striking. And as early as January he said the Kokomo Plan just might make him do it.

"It's illegal," he said at the time, "and I am fully aware of the possibility of a jail sentence. But we must stop the mad attempts by management to dehumanize — robotize — our lives and existence."

Rademacher and other union leaders have also used the threat of a nationwide walkout to prod the Postal Service to speed up negotiations, currently in progress in Washington. The present contract expires Monday, and Rademacher claims the Postal Service is stalling on key issues.

On paper, the Kokomo Plan is simply a way to get the mail delivered by fewer people. Each carrier's route is dissected and measured — miles walked, steps climbed, restroom stops, coffee breaks, mail loads. The information is fed into a computer, along with the number of routes the Postal Service would like to eliminate at Rose City (four out of 38).

It's the computer's job to divide the workload evenly among the remaining routes. In theory, the carrier functions more efficiently the public served as well or better and the Postal Service saves money.

The Postal Service says it's working. "We have squared up the routes," said Portland Postmaster Benjamin Luscher. "We have tried to set some kind of standard for letter carriers."

"They don't put in how tall you are, or how long your reach is or how heavy you are," says Robert Funge, president of the Portland letter carriers local.

The result, he said, is a system that penalized the older carrier, the shorter female carrier — anyone who doesn't match the computer's arbitrary "average."

Two and a half routes were originally eliminated at Kokomo's South station, but two were reinstated after a flurry of complaints.

The thrust of the experiment is now in Portland, where no routes have been reinstated. So far, it has produced a chorus of complaints from both customers and carriers.

"The carrier has always been the public's contact with the federal service," Funge said. "If you were mad about your taxes you could yell at your carrier. The carrier could say 'hi,' or 'how's your son doing in college?'"

Pickets went up at the Rose City station on a recent afternoon as about 100 Portland carriers staged what they cautiously labeled an "informational demonstration" against the Kokomo Plan.

"It's supermen they want, and they aren't going to get them," Funge said. "A man can only work so long, then cave in."

He ticked off what he said were the casualties: one carrier in a psychiatric ward for nervous exhaustion, several out with back injuries, high blood pressure, bad knees — perhaps "wear and tear" injuries he attributes directly to the Kokomo Plan.

So far, the experiment hasn't made many converts among customers, either. Seven out of

State To Probe Shortage Of Lids

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's canning lid shortage will be scrutinized by a special House committee next Monday in Lansing.

The committee will take testimony from citizens, lid manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers, said Rep. Francis Spaniola, D-Corunna, committee chairman.

Prices seem to be inflated where the scarce lids are available, Spaniola said Wednesday.

One woman constituent complained she got lids at 49 cents each for every $10 worth of groceries she bought — but had to pay 79 cents each if she did not buy groceries, Spaniola said.

His wife got a "limit" of two to a customer bargain of $1.29 per package of lids, which once sold for 30 cents a package, Spaniola said.

In Lansing, one person with ready cash recently picked up 20,160 lids for $700, or about 3.5 cents each, Spaniola said.

About two months ago, lid manufacturers assured him lids would be plentiful, Spaniola said. "One manufacturer reported that there are at least six or seven lids for every man, woman, child, cat and dog in the country," he said.

He wants to know why that does not seem to be the case in Michigan.

U.S. Sen. Philip Hart and U.S. Rep. J. Bob Traxler, both Michigan Democrats, also have expressed concern over the state's lack of lids, Spaniola said.

U.S. Confirms Big Russian Wheat Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is selling millions of tons of wheat to the Soviet Union with the Agriculture Department repeating that the purchases will have little effect on food prices at American supermarkets.

The department said Wednesday that Cook Industries Inc., of Memphis, Tenn., has sold two million metric tons, and Cargill Inc., of Minneapolis said it was completing arrangements to sell another 1.2 million tons.

It was unknown what the Soviets were paying for the wheat, but both transactions would be valued at a total of $475 million at the current wheat price of about $147 a ton. The Cook contract would be worth $300 million and the Cargill transaction $175.

"Several companies are still involved in negotiation" with the Russians, said Richard E. Bell, deputy assistant secretary of agriculture.

Cargill said its Trade subsidiary in Geneva, Switzerland, was contracting with the Soviets for U.S. hard winter wheat, some of it in the summer of 1976. "Cargill expects to complete contractual arrangements within the next 24 hours to supply U.S. wheat to fill this sale," a company spokesman said.

An official of Continental Grain Co. of New York City, another top exporter, declined to discuss possible negotiations.

"We keep in communication, that's all I can say," said Clarence D. Palmby, a Continental vice president.

The announcements came after more than a week of rumors that Russia was interested in buying substantial quantities of grain from the United States and Canada. Three years ago the Russians bought during secret negotiations about 11 million tons of U.S. wheat, equal to about one-fourth of the 1972 U.S. crop, plus other grain.

Those sales depleted

American stocks and led to subsequent domestic price increases for meat and dairy products.

This year, the Agriculture Department says sales to the Russians will have little inflationary impact on the American consumer's food bill. The department has projected a record grain harvest and says this will increase U.S. grain stocks even with large-scale sales to the Soviets.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Buttz has said the United States could export up to 10 million tons of grain this year without increasing domestic food prices significantly.

In the wheat belt, farmers were encouraged by the sales announcements.

Rex Cozad, administrator of the Kansas Wheat Commission, said, "I hope it's the beginning of some continued sales we'll be making in the coming months. I think wheat prices finally have bottomed out and we're going to see some increases for the farmer, but I don't look for any spectacular rises."

House Blocks Campaign Attacks

By PETE YOST
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan House staved off attempts Wednesday to kill proposed public financing of gubernatorial campaigns.

In day-long debate that resumes today on the Common Cause-backed bill to regulate political activities, the House also kept intact a requirement that candidates disclose the financial holdings of their spouses and children.

"Tell me why my wife should file a financial disclosure statement because I'm serving on the city planning commission," asked state Rep. James Smith, R-Grand Blanc.

"It's because your wife may in fact own half the city," replied state Rep. John Markes, D-Westland.

The proposal to limit public disclosure to the officeholders and candidates themselves was defeated, 58-37. Opponents said financial disclosure for family members is an unconstitutional invasion of privacy.

When state Rep. Alfred Sheridan, D-Taylor, moved to eliminate public funding for those seeking the office of governor, House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison, said, "The body politic is sick and this (public funding) is one of the best investments we can make."

Sheridan claimed public funding is opposed by most taxpayers.

Rep. Melvin DeStigter, R-Allendale, said public funding "will let the political bosses get their hands on the money" because of their ability to supply their favorite candidate with needed matching funds.

In a primary campaign, candidates from major parties would have to raise at least $1 in contributions for every $2 in public funds available under a voluntary taxpayer checkoff system.

"If you don't have the support of the bosses, you don't get the money," said DeStigter.

The efforts to kill public funding were defeated, 58-44.

Rep. Quincy Hoffman, R-Applegate, who is irked by the influence Michigan Common Cause wields in pushing the bill through the legislature, wanted to revise provisions regulating lobbyists.

Hoffman said the burden should be on the public officeholder, not the lobbyist, to disclose what lobbyists spend on public officials.

He produced copies of canceled checks revealing several hundred dollars spent by Common Cause in staging breakfasts and luncheons for legislators.

Common Cause failed to spell out in a recent report of its spending just what the money was used for. Hoffman said that was an example of how easy it is for lobbyists to "forget" to report.

An amendment by Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, to exempt minor political parties from reporting names of their contributors mustered just six votes in the 110-member House.

House Republican and Democratic leaders have urged their members to support the legislation. Common Cause has announced it will launch a petition drive to put a similar proposal on the ballot in 1978 if the current measure does not pass in correct form. Legislators feel such a proposal might be more stringent than the legislation they are writing now.

Soviets Bump Oil Prices

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Soviet Union increased the price of oil it exported to its East European allies 120 to 150 per cent last year, according to information received in recent weeks by West European governments. Officials say the increase appears to be straining the economies of Moscow's Communist customers. They said such countries as Poland, Hungary, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia are not as well equipped as the Western oil importers to absorb the shock of the increased fuel costs.

Policewoman Is Ready To Quit

DETROIT (AP) — Gayle Knight says she is considering quitting the Detroit Police Department after becoming the first city policewoman shot in the line of duty.

While she was on a plainclothes surveillance assignment Tuesday, Mrs.

Knight, 30, said she was held up by a teen-aged bandit who shot her twice in the left leg when she resisted.

"It could have happened to anyone," the one-year department veteran said Wednesday as she recuperated at home. "Being along and being a female probably helped. But the same things have been happening to the men. It was bound to happen to one of us (women) eventually."

Mrs. Knight, a divorced mother of two, became one of the first women to be put on precinct street assignment in the wake of a 1974 antidiscrimination order by a federal judge. She said she never planned to walk a beat when she was hired.

"I didn't want to go out in the streets," she said. "When I first signed up, I thought I'd be assigned to the Women's Division or the Youth Bureau."

"But I'm the type of person when a challenge comes up, I take it," she said.

She worked on precinct patrol duties until May, when she was transferred to a surveillance unit that specializes in capturing professional criminals.

"I never had to shoot anyone," she said. "The only time I ever drew my gun was once during a search. But every gun run I was involved in I was apprehensive."

She said she is still shaken by the incident and doesn't know whether she wants to stay on the force.

"My mother thinks I'm crazy," Mrs. Knight said. "I guess you have to be a little bit crazy."

"It (police work) is not something I wanted to do in the beginning, but it's something that has to be done," she said.

Gurney Case Defense Rests

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The defense has rested its month-long case in the bribery-conspiracy trial of former Sen. Edward J. Gurney and three others, after all four defendants took the stand to deny any wrongdoing.

The prosecution was expected to begin calling rebuttal witnesses today as the 21-week-old trial entered its final stages.

Defense attorneys rested Wednesday after 90 witnesses had been called in an attempt to refute charges that the defendants had conspired to build up an slush fund for Gurney by peddling the Republican senator's influence in Florida builders.

Ralph Koonitz, a former Federal Housing Administration official from Jacksonville, was the last defendant to testify, denying he was ever involved in such a scheme.

Koonitz swore he was never influenced to perform federal housing favors for builders by Gurney's former fund-raiser, Larry Williams. In fact, Koonitz said he never knew that Williams was Gurney's fund-raiser.

FINAL ARTICLE OF SERIES

Funding Pupil Programs Is A State-Federal Role

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's the last in a series of four articles offered via State Sca. Charles O. Zoller, II-Denton Harbor, to help readers better understand school financing on the state and local level.

In article three we discussed district categoricals — the way in which the state supports the specialized needs of school districts. Now we will consider the pupil categoricals and their method of funding.

Special Education: Under the "Mandatory Special Education Act" all children with physical, mental or emotional impairment must be provided special education services. Intermediate districts are responsible for assuring that each pupil receives the necessary services, even if the intermediate district must itself provide the service. The state pays 75 per cent of the salary up to $8,100 for each special education teacher.

Vocational Education: Many high school students don't have the necessary job skills to find employment when they graduate. But with machinery and material costs it takes more money to provide a vocational training program than the regular high school program.

Therefore the state pays local and intermediate school districts the added cost of vocational education programs for 11th and 12th grade pupils. Added cost is defined as the difference between the statewide average cost per hour of regular classroom instruction and the statewide cost per hour of a particular vocational education program.

Compensatory Education: Certain students have serious problems in reading and mathematics which cannot be corrected under regular classroom conditions.

Therefore the state pays school districts $200 for each kindergarten through 6th grade pupil who scores below the 15th percentile on assessment tests.

This money is provided beginning with those school districts that have the highest concentration of students achieving at below the 15th percentile level.

Reading Support: This is actually a sub-category of Compensatory Education in which the state pays 75 per cent of a reading-support teacher's salary up to $8,100. The Department of Education defines four types of reading-support teachers who qualify for funding under this categorical.

Community Schools: There is a need to allow all members of the community the use of school facilities for cultural and educational enrichment. The state supports community school programs by giving local school districts up to $10,000 in salaries for each community school director or coordinator.

Alternative Juvenile Programs: A substantial number of children have their education interrupted by suspension from school due to behavior problems. Alternative Juvenile Programs are directed at providing these children continuing education during the

Local Government Pays Most

The money to run Michigan's elementary and secondary school system comes 51 per cent from local units of government, 6 per cent from the state, and 3 per cent from the federal government.

time they are excluded or suspended from school.

The state supports alternative juvenile programs by paying local school districts up to $7,500 for each professional program instructor.

In 1974-75, the federal government provided Michigan with $184 million for some 30 programs. The following is a list of the major federal programs.

Compensatory Education: ($93 million in 1974-75). This money was distributed to assist educationally disadvantaged children from low income families. In 1974-75, it is estimated that 130,000 Michigan children benefited from this federal program.

School Nutritional Program: ($27 million in 1974-75). This program pays schools to provide lunch programs.

Vocational Education: ($15 million in 1974-75). Most of this money was distributed on a 50 per cent match for equipment and construction costs.

Special Education: ($5 million in 1974-75). This program is designed to strengthen programs for the mentally retarded and mentally ill in state institutions.

We have now seen how the state and federal government attempt to provide funding support for the various special needs of pupils and members of the community. This concludes the four-article series.

Gladiolus Committee Schedules Final '75 Meeting On July 23

COLOMA — The final Coloma Gladiolus festival committee meeting, prior to this year's festival, Aug. 1-3, will be held at the Coloma township hall, Wednesday, July 23, at 8 p.m. Mike Dilts, festival president, said details surrounding the youth parade, festival parade, booth displays and all events held during the festival will be reviewed. Organizations and groups required to have a permit to display during the festival, who have not picked them up, may do so during the meeting, added Dilts.

Buchanan Postmaster Retires After 36 Years Of Service

BUCHANAN — Charles E. (Chuck) Wesner, Buchanan postmaster since 1939, has retired.

Wesner, 55, 305 Bakertown road, Buchanan, has served the postal system for over 36 years. He came to the department as a substitute carrier in 1939, became a fulltime clerk in 1945 and then was named postmaster.

Announcement of the retirement was made earlier this month.

Wesner who is also Buchanan township fire chief, said he intends to remain as chief for at least one more year. He has been the department chief since it was organized in 1934. He served the Buchanan city fire department for 15 years prior to being named township fire chief.

Wesner said that the post office in Buchanan has grown from two city and two rural routes in 1939 to four city and three rural routes presently. He said yearly receipts have grown from about $4,000 when he came to the department to $350,000 last year.

The former postmaster said that his service time will actually climb to more than 37 years with the addition of 2,002 hours of accumulated sick leave.

Wesner said retirement plans are incomplete at this time. He said he enjoys traveling and

NO. 2 PARTY PULLS OUT Portuguese Cabinet Scrapped

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portugal's leftist military rulers scrapped the remnants of the military-civilian coalition cabinet today after the country's second largest political party withdrew in protest against the regime's refusal to guarantee democratic government.

A spokesman for the ruling military Revolutionary Council said the new government would not be exclusively military. But he refused to give any hint where the officers might find any civilians other than the Communists and their allies to serve.

The Communists meanwhile were mobilizing against a new move to replace the pro-Communist military premier, Gen. Vasco Gonçalves.

Like the Socialists who withdrew from the cabinet last week, the centrist Popular Democratic Party (PPD) went into opposition because the military leaders refused to restore freedom of the press and to make good on promises of parliamentary democracy.

The PPD representatives who resigned were Joaquim Magalhães Mota, a minister without portfolio; Social Affairs Minister Jorge Sá Borges; Secretary for Health Carlos Macedo and Social Security

Secretary Vasco da Graça Moura.

Two independents also submitted their resignations. They were Minister of Foreign Trade José da Silva Lopes and Minister of Overseas Territories António de Almeida Santos.

The only civilians left in the cabinet were from the Communist front, which won only 18 per cent of the vote in the constituent assembly elections in April.

The resignations of the civilians made no change in the control of the country since all power is in the hands of the military officers who overthrew the fascist dictatorship last year. But the presence of the Socialist and PPD representatives in the cabinet gave the government's decisions the implied support of a majority of the voters.

The Revolutionary Council, the politburo of the Armed Forces Movement, announced after an all-night emergency meeting that it had "analyzed the present situation of political crisis, which would be overcome by the formation of a new government."

The statement noted the "delicacy" of the situation and appealed to the people for "serenity and civic-mindedness."

The council is split between moderates and radicals, and informed sources said a new move was under way to oust Premier Gonçalves because he has failed to improve the grave economic situation and has been pushing the country toward a radical socialism that is supported by only a minority of the people.

The moderates were reported to believe they now have enough votes to dismiss Gonçalves though it was not known if they had the support of Gen. Costa Gomes.

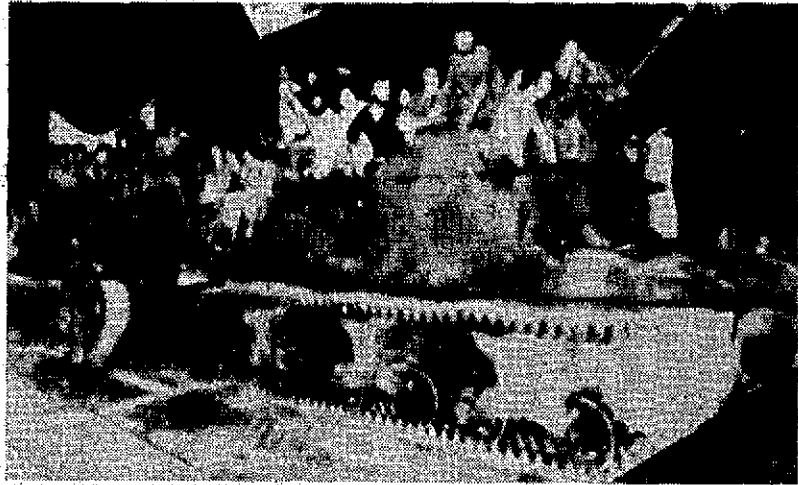

The Communist party, preparing to strike back if the premier was voted out, proclaimed a "state of vigilance" against "reactionaries" for its militants in offices, factories and the trade unions.

Sen. Griffin's Father Dies

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — J. A. Griffin, father of U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., died suddenly Wednesday at a Pontiac hospital. He was 73.

Griffin, a resident of Highland, was a retired quality control manager for the Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors Corp.

Survivors include his widow, Beulah; his mother, Sarah of Dearborn; the senator and two other sons, Eugene of Waterford and Gerald of Midland, and a daughter, Janice Foster of Clarkston.

TANKS JOIN DEMONSTRATORS: Tanks from a military unit under leftist sway move through Lisbon Wednesday night along with demonstrators who joined in a march to demand a people's government and the dissolution of Portugal's constitutional assembly elected last April. This scene was pictured after the demonstration. (AP Wirephoto)

Roofing Projects Tops In Coloma

COLOMA — Four of eight permits issued during the past four weeks by Coloma Building Inspector Richard Krieger covered roofing work for city residents.

Issued permits were Dorl Sawatzki, 155 Bank, estimated cost, $800; Homer Umphrey, 188 Thomas, $500; A. L. Benson, 138 Thomas, $250; and Cotter Construction Company, 127 Center, Coloma, $250.

Other permits were issued to Dick Shelly, 215 North street, replace windows, $500.

Emil Bruder, 279 East St. Joseph, siding, $500.

Art Taube, 548 West Maple, by Walter Arney, add patio, $1,500.

Decorated Teeth A New Body Art

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A dentist-dressed dentist here is giving teeth with suns and moons, hearts and flowers. He says decorating dental work is a new form of body art.

Dr. Robert Wachtel says he only puts designs on porcelain crowns — not on real teeth — and never on front teeth "because they're too obvious and people change their minds."

And the 35-year-old dentist emphasizes he never caps a tooth unless it is necessary.

"More and more people are doing it — it's quite nice and very personal," says the 33-year-old Wachtel. He said he's capped the teeth of 30 patients in the last year.

Wachtel, whose own teeth are pearly white, says his stock in trade includes sunbursts, stars, airplanes, anchors, lightning rods, signs of the zodiac, and any design somebody wants.

The patient draws the design in any color or colors and lab technicians paint it on the cap and bake on a glaze. The patient has a week to decide before the cap is cemented. If he changes his mind, the design is ground off and the cap reglazed.

A fancy (and costs no more than a plain white cap, Wachtel says.

Wachtel says he first hit upon the idea of ornamented teeth when a patient complained that the cap he was about to install looked too plain and suggested a design.

"I've been suggesting designs for caps ever since. Like tattoos, they're a very personal form of expression," Wachtel says.

"I'm a Cancer, and Cancer is ruled by the moon, so it fits," says artist Fern Friedman about the blue crescent moon on her tooth.

Bob Sagesar, an architectural draftsman and sailor, ordered a blue anchor for his tooth and says he's sorry it isn't on a front tooth.

"Mostly, I don't show it to people," he admits. "But if they want to see it, they just have to look way back in there."

"I always wanted a tattoo, so I did it on my tooth," says Michelle Hubbard, a sales clerk. She got an astrological symbol for Mercury rising.

She says most people like it but that a few think it's "bizarre and horrible."

Arlene Glazer, an administrative assistant, ordered a five-pointed star on her left bicuspid. She says she isn't sorry, but "I'm afraid to let my mother see it."

GOP, Democrats Eye Cleveland, NYC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are leaning toward Cleveland for their 1976 convention and Democrats toward New York, cities they last used in elections that proved politically disastrous for them.

Cleveland, which last held the Republican convention in 1936 when the party lost all but two states to Franklin D. Roosevelt, has emerged as the surprise frontrunner for the 1976 GOP convention.

Party sources said that reluctance of some Florida GOP officials to host the convention again at Miami Beach, where Republicans met in 1968 and 1972, has left Kansas City as Cleveland's top rival. Until recently, Miami Beach had been the frontrunner.

The likely starting date is either Aug. 16 or Aug. 23.

Among the Democrats, New York is favored by some top party leaders including chairman Robert S. Strauss to be host for the first time since the 103-ballot convention in 1924 that preceded one of the party's worst presidential defeats.

However, Los Angeles remains in the running, in considerable measure because its convention facilities are considered superior to New York's. There is some indication officials may be touting New York in part to spur greater effort by California Democratic leaders.

The Democrats plan to meet July 12.

Final decisions on the sites won't be made until at least August.

City officials in both Cleveland and Kansas City have eagerly sought the 1976 GOP convention. However, the Cleveland convention facilities are considered superior, with sufficient space to house all official activities including press work space.

In contrast, the new Kansas City convention center won't be finished in time so the meetings would have to be held in the smaller, but new Kemper Arena, built for the city's hockey and basketball teams.

There is a question in both cities about hotel rooms. However, Cleveland officials say they could add 1,400 rooms with three cruise ships and avoid housing delegates in Akron more than an hour away.

Three other cities are bidding for the GOP convention: New Orleans, where a conflict has arisen because the Superdome may be needed for pro football games; Los Angeles; and San Francisco.

Some Democratic leaders are reluctant to go to Los Angeles because of the expense and inconvenience of arranging a convention 3,000 miles from Washington. They say California Democrats, except for Los Angeles Mayor Thomas Bradley, have not been too cooperative so far.

In New York, however, there is a question whether Madison Square Garden has sufficient floor space for the delegates, aides and press.

SMALLER is better, at least when it comes to electronic memory computers. This two-and-a-half pound unit called BEAMOS (for Beam Addressed Metal Oxide Semiconductor) can store up to 32 million bits of information 1,000 times faster than the mechanical drum memory in the background. Only 17 inches long, General Electric's development center in Schenectady, N.Y. designed the computer to transfer up to 10 million bits of information in a second.

BUY WISELY! BUY WELL.

Buying furniture on sale — wisely and well — can bring some of the longest lasting pleasures and satisfactions you can experience. But not all furniture sales are created equal. Some have great savings, but on furniture that's not up to your standards. Some have furniture up to your standards, but at not very good savings. However, there's one sale where you'll get it all together! House of Furniture's great Anniversary Sale. Here, you get price-provoking furniture AND hard-to-believe savings!

THE FURNITURE ON SALE!

What makes our sale different? It's simple. We regularly stock only fine furniture from fine makers, like Bassett, Howell, Sealy & Lane, Norwalk, Serta Lumber — so every item on our sale is an item from these regular stocks. No "special" buys. No promotional pieces. Of course many of our fine sources have extended special prices to us. For instance, Norwalk Furniture has allowed us to special order any chair, rocker sofa or loveseat in their line at special savings. That translates twenty per cent (25%) savings to you. That's just one example of what we mean when we say that you save on the finest furniture values during this great sale. Don't come here expecting to find the cheapest furniture. That's not our bag. Especially today when your hard earned dollars mean more to you than ever. You Want Value? And that is what this great sale is all about. We have built our reputation on this and we certainly are not about to change now.

INVEST NOW!

You owe it to yourself to come shop this sale. Bring the other savvy buyers in your family, and together, pick and choose what's quality-at-a-great-price for you. For all the reasons that this like these great, you could very well be picking the best investments you'll ever make!

IS NOW A GOOD TIME TO BUY FURNITURE & HOME FURNISHINGS?

You be the judge.

1. Naturally you're acutely aware of how prices are rising constantly. On everything. But especially on things requiring quantities of raw materials and many man hours to produce them. Furniture and home furnishings fit this category.
2. As new home building has declined, the value of improving existing homes has leaped ahead. This makes home improvements like new carpeting, mattresses, accessories, and furniture likely to prove among today's very best long-term investments.
3. As the cost of outside pleasures and entertainments soar out of sight, it becomes ever more important to have a home rich in convenience, pleasure, warmth, and comfort. Actually, whatever is added to these, adds to the family store of real wealth.

Think how new furniture and furnishings can improve your home! Think of lush plush carpeting, supremely comfortable furniture, entertaining. Come and family room furniture. Now think of how any and all of these can be yours at these very, very low 31st Anniversary Sale prices. Now you be the judge. Is now a good time to make yourself and your family a better future? To buy quality furniture and home furnishings at substantial true savings! We believe your thoughtful answer will be "yes!" So come in today. Shop. Save and live lots better.

YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS THIS SALE

even if you've just agreed to "not spend a nickel or anything we can jump on or do without." "Can't afford to miss" is a strong phrase — but when a sale offers such great savings on such fine furnishings, in such satisfactory times, there's just no way to urge your participation strongly enough! # Senate To Vote On Birth Control Issue

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A controversial bill legalizing teaching of birth control in Michigan public schools was in position for an expected close vote today in the state Senate.

With no debate, the Senate advanced the bill Wednesday for a final tally. Its sponsor, Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, said he was optimistic he had the votes to pass it, although it is a touchy issue for many lawmakers.

The bill, traditionally an emotional issue in the legislature, would remove the current prohibition against teaching birth control in sex education classes. It would require the state Board of Education, along with the Department of Public Health, to establish guidelines on teaching contraception, sex hygiene and venereal disease.

The bill was amended to permit the teaching of "contraception" but not "birth control" — which some members argued includes abortion.

Backers contend the measure is needed because of soaring venereal disease and illegitimacy rates as well as the right to known similar measures have failed to pass since 1967, when Gov. George Romney vetoed a birth control teaching bill.

Bills have twice died in the House Education Committee, where this measure also would be referred. The committee has been the stage in the past for testimony in opposition to the bill by parents' organizations.

Parents opposing the bill watched from Senate galleries this week, and Wednesday a conservative women's group wrote each senator urging a "no" vote on the bill.

Happiness of Womanhood, Inc., charged the Senate Education Committee had not given the public a chance to speak against the bill, although Bursley said testimony was taken from visitors.

"This bill violates parental rights ... birth control cannot be taught by public school teachers since they are not equipped to deal with the moral dimension," HOW told the senators.

"We urge you to vote against legislation that would use the schools to bring about unwanted, radical social change," the group concluded.

Hail Damage Occurred In 10,000 Acres

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Saturday's hailstorm inflicted heavy crop damage in all of Hager, two-thirds of Coloma and a little of Watervliet townships; the Berrien county Emergency Preparedness committee stated yesterday.

The committee didn't put a dollar total on the damage but decided that some 10,000 acres in Berrien county were affected, according to Milton Francis, chairman of the committee and director of the Berrien Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

Called yesterday to assess the damage so that a report could be sent to the State Preparedness office, the Berrien committee estimated that hail damaged fruits and vegetables on 165 of the county's farms. The report could lead to federal disaster relief.

Potentially, the loss from the storm could be greatest for tree fruit growers in this county, according to Berrien Extension Agent James Neibauer, who sat in at yesterday's meeting. But, he and Francis said, all crops within the hail area were damaged, including blueberries, grapes, tomatoes, melons and corn.

Francis said that the "severe center" of the storm was a box bordered by Maple lane, North Coloma road, the north county line and I-196. Many of the farms in this area are "wiped clean," he said.

The committee did not consider the damage in Van Buren or Allegan counties but indicated that the path of the storm continued north through Van Buren and into Allegan.

Estimating the damage in terms of dollars is difficult because some of the crops may be salvageable, he said. Hail-damaged apples, for example, might be sold for juice because appearance is not important in that market.

Following the half-hour storm on Saturday Peter Holbein, manager of the Michigan Blueberry Growers Association, estimated that damage to the state's blueberry crop could run as high as $2,250,000. He said yesterday that up to 2.5 million pounds of an expected $2 million pound blueberry crop was lost.

A hailstorm that cut through the heart of Berrien's fruitland on May 30 inflicted from $5 to $10 million in damage, the committee said. Hail has been so common this year that, except in severe cases, extension agents have stopped reporting storms.

INSTALLING 'SCRUBBER'

PARMA, Ohio (AP) — General Motors is installing a new scrubber at its Chevrolet plant here that is expected by the company to remove 80 per cent of the sulfur oxides from coal smoke. It has been under development for five years.

TRI-UNIT AUCTION

A wide variety of donated items, including a 1951 Chevrolet one-ton chassis and six 12-yard loads of gravel, will be auctioned off at the Tri-unit fire department's auction, Friday, July 18, at 4 p.m., in the Stevensville village parking lot.

"This year we have just about everything imaginable" for sale," Don Kretschman, department secretary, said. "We have good used stoves, refrigerators, washers, dryers, water softeners, small appliances, various tools, lawn mowers, color and black and white televisions, farm equipment ... you name it, we have it."

The auction is held every other year to raise funds for the purchase of fire fighting equipment for the department, which serves Lincoln and Royalton townships and Stevensville. Kretschman said the auction will continue until all items are sold.

Bear Hugs Await U.S. Astronauts

Saturday and then will attempt a second docking, with Soyuz serving as the acting partner. They will then go their separate ways and Soyuz will return to earth Monday.

Stafford, Brand and Slayton will remain aloft three more days, until next Thursday. To conduct additional experiments, mainly in earth observations and astronomy.

Both spacecrafts on Wednesday successfully executed maneuvers to set up the final docking sequence.

The Soyuz cosmonauts fired rockets that shifted their craft's orbit to a near circular path 135 to 139 miles above the earth. They said the 21-second burst was perfect.

When Apollo was launched Tuesday it started out 4,400 miles behind Soyuz. When the astronauts retired Wednesday night the gap had been closed to about 1,500 miles.

During the day Wednesday both astronauts and cosmonauts became spaceage repairmen, using a screwdriver and band-aids.

Brand wielded a screwdriver to help remove a docking mechanism that had lodged in the tunnel that will connect the two spacecrafts. It was a simple operation that required less than an hour.

Had the obstructing mechanism not been removed, the spacecraft would not be able to transfer between the crafts.

Aboard Soyuz, Leonov and Kubasov wrestled with a crumpled television camera which failed shortly after launch. Russian flight controllers said a camera cable needed to be insulated and Kubasov asked:

"Can we use band-aids from our medical kit to insulate the end of the cable?"

"Yes, Valeri, you can do it," replied a ground controller. Their inventiveness solved the problem.

The astronauts transmitted pictures as they checked electrical and other systems in the 10-foot-long docking tunnel attached to the nose of Apollo.

Leonov and Kubasov also contacted two comrades in space, the crew of the Russian space station Salyut 4, and relayed news from home. Pyotr Klimuk and Vitaly Sevast'yanov have been aboard the orbiting laboratory since May 26 and are due to return to earth later this month.

Residents Want Public Kept Out

DOWAGIAC — Petitions signed by approximately 75 Indian Lake residents requesting that the public beach on Indian Lake road be closed were presented to the Silver Creek township board last night.

The request was made due to what the petitioners termed excess littering on the beach and parking lot and poor sanitation facilities.

The board passed a resolution saying it would investigate the problem and contact the Cass county road commission for a possible joint solution to the problem, before entertaining a motion to close the beach.

In other areas, the board approved three lot splits at Magician Lake as requested by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davis.

The board said it would contact the county road commission concerning complaints of tall corn obstructing the view of drivers on Indian Lake-Sister Lake road at the intersections of Swisher road and Dixon road.

Rex Clark, Cass county commissioner, informed the board the county has purchased a paper shredder, which is available for use by all townships in the county.

Farmers Will Fight Do-Gooders

their own rights were and deeply involved in getting their crops harvested, acceded to the demands, according to Bixby.

Other growers ordered the person off the property only to get argument that the person had a right to be there. Bixby said the Farm Bureau feels this is a violation of the trespass laws.

If the person has a legitimate complaint or demand it should be taken to the appropriate public agency, instead of the grower being harassed, Bixby asserted.

He indicated the specific instances on which the Farm Bureau may go to court have not been determined yet. He also suggested another approach may be to file charges of unethical practices against the legal aid representatives with the Michigan Bar association, claiming there has been solicitation of business in violation of bar association ethics.

The Farm Bureau head said he anticipates additional money will quickly be pledged to the fight.

"These monies will be used to protect growers rights and possibly challenge certain existing laws that hinder growers' food production capabilities."

State Police Arrest 7 Hoosiers

NILES — State police from the Niles post arrested seven 18-year-old Elkhart, Ind., residents on charges of possession of marijuana early this morning.

Police said the seven were in an auto stopped for a traffic violation on US-31 near Bell road in Niles township about 1:30 a.m.

A subsequent search of the auto and the seven produced a small quantity of suspected marijuana and amphetamine pills, police said.

The seven arrested were identified as Laura Nye, Mary Brown, Mary Sartorius, Mark Yeoman, Steven Hartman, Vince Abbott and Russell Ritchie.

Troopers said the men were lodged in the Niles city jail and the women released after posting bonds of $100 each.

GARAGE DESTROYED: Garage at residence of Jeffrey Hill, 6618 Sunset drive, Coloma, was destroyed by fire about 6 a.m. this morning. Homer Umphrey, Coloma assistant fire chief, said fire followed minor explosion inside structure. According to Umphrey, Mrs. Hill had just turned on lights in garage when explosion occurred. Umphrey theorized explosion came from fumes from gasoline kept in garage. Tools, boat and trailer in garage were lost in blaze as was older model pick-up truck parked next to it. Loss was estimated at $4,500. (Cliff Stevens photo)

The festival will be held Aug. 1-3, with the youth parade scheduled for 7 p.m. Aug. 1.

Judge Gives Reo New Deadline

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Edward Benson has extended until the end of this month the deadline for finding a buyer for the bankrupt Diamond Reo truck company.

The judge had planned a final hearing on the future of the Lansing-based company Wednesday if there were no buyers. But he postponed the deadline after meeting in Grand Rapids with the receiver of the trucking firm.

The judge has postponed the deadline several times in the past.

Benson said receiver Frank Hohman told him there are several parties interested in buying and operating the truck plant, but none have presented final offers.

Benson said he approved a recommendation from Hohman that the receiver be given until July 31 to finalize any possible offers.

Benson did not disclose the identity of the prospective buyers.

The plant has an estimated value of $38 million, but the company still faces $6 million dollars in unpaid secured liens.

Diamond Reo, once the nation's 10th largest truck company, was declared bankrupt six weeks ago.

Trucker Crawls Two Miles

GRAYLING, Mich. (AP) — Truck driver Glenn Fisher, 53, crawled two miles with a broken leg and ankle Wednesday after an explosion set his 16,800-gallon oil truck afire. Antrim County authorities said the Houghton Lake man finally was spotted by a passing motorist, who called police. Deputies said Fisher was thrown from top of the tanker while he was filling it with oil at a tank in a remote area of the county. He was treated at a Grayling hospital, then transferred to Traverse City. The value of the lost oil and damaged equipment was estimated at $67,000.

Workers Reject Contract

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Nearly 1,100 union members struck Lear Siegler's Instrument Division on Wednesday after rejecting a new contract. Max Lautenschlager, president of United Auto Workers Local 330, said the strike occurred after about 140 skilled tradesmen narrowly rejected the offer. He said production workers approved the pact as recommended by the union. The union's old contract with the firm, which makes instruments for the aerospace industry and government, expired Wednesday. No details of the rejected offer were made public. A 1966 strike at the plant lasted more than 14 weeks.

Urges Bill Be Passed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has urged passage of a bill repealing the state fair trade law, which allows manufacturers to set minimum prices on retail goods. Milliken said Wednesday the bill, now in a Senate committee, is a "vitally important piece of anti-inflation legislation." Fair trade price arrangements promote indirect price manipulation, suppress competition and retard technology, Milliken told the Senate Agriculture and Consumer Affairs Committee.

Arizona Man Is Named

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An Arizona man has been named the southwestern Michigan regional administrator for the state Department of Mental Health. Department acting director Dr. Donald C. Smith said Paul D. Wulkan will be responsible for coordinating 18 community mental health service boards, the Kalamazoo State Hospital and the Coldwater State Home and Training School in the 11-county region. Wulkan, 36, comes from Tucson where he was superintendent of the Arizona Training Program serving one-third of the state's mentally retarded.

FBI Probes Violence

DETROIT (AP) — Former Teamster President James Hoffa said Wednesday the FBI is investigating the possibility that outsiders may be responsible for recent acts of violence against members of Teamsters Local 298. "I have personal knowledge they (the FBI) are checking into the whereabouts of a man, a violent incompetent, who gets off base every time he has two or three drinks," Hoffa said. A car being used by Local 229 Vice President Richard Fitzsimmons was bombed July 10 while it was parked outside a Detroit bar. The incident was the latest in a long line of violent acts against local union officers.

House To Name New CIA Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Having turned back attempts to halt a separate probe of intelligence agencies, the House is expected to appoint a new panel amid more reports of secret government-sponsored LSD experiments. On Wednesday, the House reaffirmed its intentions to conduct its own intelligence investigation by rejecting a proposal to establish a bipartisan Senate committee to oversee intelligence operations. The Senate committee looking into intelligence operations received Wednesday a report from a Texas state legislator, Rep. Lane Devon, which charges that a state mental health institution had performed the detector research for the CIA that might have involved giving LSD and other drugs to unknown subjects during the mid-1950s.

ON JULY 4, 1776, Admiral Count Charles Hector d'Estaing brought the French fleet on American shores in support of the colonies' war against the British. ## 'Neil' Overcomes Nasty Disposition

Neil, a trained lion out of work because of a nasty disposition, was reclaimed by trainer Ron Oxley, who was determined that a warmer personal relationship would solve the problem. Today they share a house with five of Oxley's other pets, including Bruno, the bear, who stays outdoors. Since Neil gets plenty of daily exercise on movie sets, he's perfectly happy to come home, lie on the rug and sleep.

Infirmities Are No Barrier For Young Cyclist

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Jeff Meyer looks like any 13-year-old out riding a bicycle with his father. Recently he pedaled 150 miles on winding roads in two days.

But Jeff is blind and has epilepsy.

While bicycle riding, his father blows a whistle to guide the husky youngster along the right-of-way and out of danger. When Jeff was 2, his parents, William and Peggy Meyer, were told at UCLA's Neurological Center that their only child was blind and had paralysis and epilepsy.

"The neurologist told us that Jeff would never be much more than a vegetable," said Meyer, an attorney. "But my wife showed courage you would never believe. She said she would never consent, never, that she would find a way, that our son would be helped."

In an interview, Mrs. Meyer said she was determined "there was no need for tears, or guilty or self-defensive feelings."

The Meyers moved to Chicago, where Jeff was enrolled in a Doman-Delucato patterning method class, with manipulated exercises designed to reproduce normal activity.

Five volunteers worked with Jeff four times a day for months, and he overcame the paralysis.

The epileptic seizures of the grand mal type began when he was 6, but oral medicine taken three times a day has reduced them.

His father says that when Jeff was a child "some kids threw his toys in a basement excavation and told him to walk over and get them. Jeff tumbled right in. Another time, he was taunted for being blind and punched in the one eye in which he has some sight."

Jeff will enter Mission Bay High School in September, but he refuses to wear identification tags that spell out his afflictions.

"His attitude is excellent," says his father. "He wants to be self-sufficient. He's going to be."

Public TV To Discuss Some Space Achievements Tonight

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Public TV, which hasn't joined its commercial cousins in covering the Apollo-Soyuz flight, jumps into the space pool tonight with a two-hour examination of what space technology has achieved.

Called "Space for Man?," half the show is an American project, with discussions of space programs by such experts as Sen. John H. Glenn Jr., D-Ohio, the first American to orbit the earth.

The other half is an unique international effort consisting of film reports from at least 20 countries on how space research has helped man on earth and what space projects the future may bring.

This segment was coproduced by America's National Public Affairs Center for Television — NPACT — the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. — CBC — and the European Broadcasting Union — EBU.

Russia, which on Tuesday broadcast live TV coverage of its Soyuz launch to the world, was to have contributed to the program.

"But that now appears a very dim possibility," says NPACT's Al Vecchione, executive producer of NPACT's segments in the show.

The reason: No Soviet film has been sent in yet. It seems odd, considering Russia's unprecedented live TV coverage of one of its space shots and its rare help to newsmen before and during the Soyuz flight.

Vecchione, who said the international segment of tonight's show will be distributed to 23 countries, said he initially had set aside 15 minutes for the Russian portion of the show.

Now, he added, that appears out and the international segment, originally planned for 75 minutes, probably will be shaved to 60 minutes and the NPACT discussion segment increased from 45 minutes to an hour.

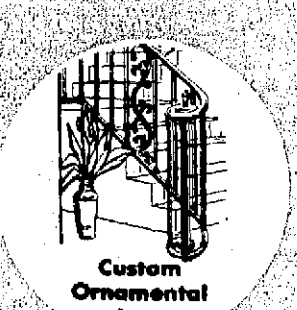

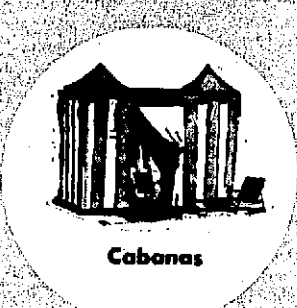

Vecchione, interviewed by phone Tuesday, said EBU began collecting material for the show six months ago, asking TV officials in various countries for film reports pegged to the theme of what benefits space programs have given man on earth.

Russian TV officials were among those asked to contribute.

"They refused to come into the partnership for about 4½ months," Vecchione said. "But a month ago, they sent a telegram that said, 'Yes, very happy to participate.'"

"Okay, fine. Only they haven't sent it," he said, adding that there's been no word on whether it will be sent or why the Russians haven't coughed up the film at this late date.

Towers Waste, Says Power Firm's Study

COVERT — A study recently released by Consumers Power company has added support to opposition by utility firms to water-cooling towers for nuclear plants along Lake Michigan.

The study contends that tests of a system whereby the heated water is returned to the lake after going through the plant showed no bad effects on the water or waterlife, thereby making cooling towers unnecessary.

Both systems are designed to reduce the temperature of the water to within a few degrees of what it was when taken from the lake. The water is heated in the generating process and requires cooling before return to the lake.

Consumers Power, despite doubting the value of cooling towers, installed them at its Palisades plant near Covert to meet demands of environmentalists. The towers cost $20 to $25 million.

A spokesman for Consumers said the report substantiated the firm's position that the towers were unnecessary.

Builders of the Cook plant near Bridgman in Berrien county, when Consumers agreed to install them at Palisades, had labeled towers a waste and said they had no plans to install them.

The Cook plant, owned by Indiana and Michigan Electric company, has begun generating electricity without the added cooling system. A firm spokesman said the system whereby the water is returned to the lake after being cooled in the plant meets requirements of regulatory agencies.

Dr. John Reynolds, an environmental scientist with Consumers, said the study showed that the effects of the returned water from the "once-through" system could in no way justify the cooling towers.

Reynolds said the study was conducted from May, 1968 into 1974 on the once-through system.

The Consumers report said the tests showed no significant difference in the fish abundance, no significant reductions in the population of plankton (microscopic organisms floating in the lake) or of organisms that live on the bottom of the lake and no accumulation of algae because of the heated water.

According to the report, the water temperature along the beaches near the plant did not increase during 1972, but that in 1973, nighttime temperatures did exceed earlier maximums by four to eight degrees.

In winter months, the report said, there was little melting of ice because of the water flow.

Reynolds said the company is conducting tests on the impact of the water towers on the environment, but he said the towers have not been in operation long enough to have results.

WERE COOLING TOWERS NEEDED? An environmental impact study released recently by Consumers Power company implies the firm's $20 to $25 million cooling towers constructed at company's Palisades nuclear plant, near Covert, to meet demands of environmental groups were unnecessary.

Study contends that tests of system whereby heated water is returned to lake after going through plant's generating process, showed no bad effects on water or waterlife. Cooling towers turn heated water into steam which is released into air. (Adolph Hann aerial photo, May, 1975)

Buchanan Employees Given Salary Hikes

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
BUCHANAN — Yearly salary increases ranging from $205 to $500 have been granted Buchanan city department heads, according to Robert Faulhaber, city manager.

The raises were effective July 1, according to Faulhaber. The city manager said that city employees paid hourly were also granted a pay raise of 10 cents per hour for the first half of the 1975 fiscal year based on cost of living figures.

Faulhaber, $17,000, up $500 from $16,500 last year; Dan

Moore, police chief, $13,250, up $250 from $12,900; Max Penwell, public works superintendent, $13,500, up $300 from $13,200; Neal Burks, fire chief, $12,150, up $270 from $11,880; Dick Best, cemetery and parks superintendent, $10,600, up $205 from $10,395; Herbert Russell, clerk, $9,850, up $210 from $9,640; Mrs. Pauline Synold, treasurer, $9,500, up $234 from $9,266; and Richard Bell, building inspector and assessor, $9,300, up $300, from $9,000.

The 10-cent increase for hourly wage earners is based on the federal government's cost of living figures released in May. Hourly workers will be in line for a second pay boost in January, based on the government's figures to be announced in November, he added.

Open House At Du-Wel

DOWAGIAC — A public open house at Du-Wel Aluminum corporation's Dowagiac division will be held Saturday, July 19, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., to celebrate the division's 15th year anniversary in Dowagiac, according to Charles Symmonds, general manager.

A tour of the plant will be held so visitors will be able to see how component parts are manufactured for automobiles, appliances and farm and garden equipment. Dowagiac area retailers display products in which Du-Wel components are used.

Du-Wel began its Dowagiac operation in July, 1960, with 30 employees and six die cast machines. The 1974 employment level was 160 employees and 13 die cast machines are now available for production.

Saugatuck's Venetian Festival To Be Held Saturday, July 26

SAUGATUCK — The 10th annual Venetian festival will be celebrated here Saturday, July 26.

Sponsored by the Singapore yacht club, the Saugatuck yacht club, the Point Pleasant yacht club, the villages of Saugatuck and Douglas and the Saugatuck volunteer fire department, the annual event features a wide variety of activities.

On Thursday night, the Venetian festival queen contest will be staged at 7:30 p.m. at the Women's club. Then on Saturday, the following events will take place:

Noon — Parade of antique cars on Butler street.

1 p.m. — Sky divers, "The Marksmen" of Lawton, over Kalamazoo lake.

1:30 p.m. — Sailing races on the lake.

3:30 and 6:30 p.m. — Sky divers repeat performances.

4 p.m. — Venetian festival parade on Butler street.

7 p.m. — Concert in the park by Shrine band.

8 p.m. — Bicentennial preview, 9:30 p.m. — Grand Venetian parade of boats on Kalamazoo lake.

Finale — Fireworks display over Kalamazoo lake.

A number of exhibits will also be featured throughout the day. Included will be an art display in the village square; tours of Breuckman historical museum; continuous showboat music on the water; guided tours of the Keewatin Great Lakes passenger ship at Douglas; antique cars in Cook park; plus numerous other activities designed for the entire family.

BEULAH, Mich. (AP) — Benzie County sheriff's deputies said Wednesday an 11-year-old Battle Creek boy drowned at the mouth of the Platte River. Gregory Green was swimming while on a trip with a church group when he drowned in about three feet of water, deputies said.

Fiscal Belt-Tightening Works For South Haven

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven ended its 1975 fiscal year with a modest surplus instead of a deficit as had been anticipated by some city officials.

City Manager Albert Pierce reported yesterday that pre-audit figures indicate the city ended with a $10,442 surplus from a budget of $1,100,530.

An austerity program was initiated last winter when a budget deficit as high as $97,000 was predicted by some elected officials. In March, the council was told by Pierce that even with the belt tightening a deficit of about $20,000 could be expected.

"The expenditure reduction program was given top priority by the city administration," Pierce noted. "The department heads made an all out effort to reduce delayed until funds could be made available in the new budget."

The deficit was anticipated because of higher labor costs and general inflationary trends. Pierce said he felt the belt tightening was accomplished without hurting city services. Austerity measures included elimination of overtime and not hiring extra personnel.

Preliminary financial figures show the city under-expended its $1,100,530 budget by $8,386. In addition, there was an excess in revenue of $1,056 giving the $10,442 surplus.

"The department heads and other city personnel are to be commended for their efforts in reducing the expenditures in their various departments and consequently making it possible to balance the budget. The department heads and employees are commended for a job well done," Pierce concluded.

Royalty Unhurt In Bomb Blast

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — A Molotov cocktail exploded today at the feet of Crown Prince Akihito and Crown Princess Michiko, but neither one was hurt.

Police said security officials put out the flames. A guardman behind the 42-year-old heir to the Japanese throne was slightly injured.

JOY Camp Registration Still Open

People over 55 may still register for the third annual JOY (Just Older Youth) camp to begin Sunday at Camp Warren, according to Rev. Arnold R. Bolin, executive director of the Berrien County Council of Churches.

Those interested may call the council of churches before the close of business Friday and register by telephone. The camp runs from July 20 to 26, and cost is $39. Some funds are available to assist people who cannot pay the entire fee.

In addition to the resident camp, senior citizens can attend for one day if desired. People who want to come for just one day can attend any day, Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Cost for one day will depend on noon meal arrangements.

Those desiring to eat a served dinner in the dining hall with the resident campers will pay $3 per day. People who bring their own lunch will pay $1 per day. Cost includes the program for the day. Transportation will be the campers' responsibility.

Reservations for one day at the camp must be made 24 hours in advance by calling Berrien County Council of Churches between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Watervliet Catholic Principal Is Named

WATERVLIET — Mrs. Mary A. Thiesen, former teacher and principal at Riverside school in Hagar township, will be the principal and kindergarten teacher at the St. Joseph Catholic elementary school here.

Announcement of the appointment was made by the school's board of education.

The school, at 200 Division street, had an enrollment of 135 in grades one through six last year, along with six instructors.

Kindergarten classes have been added for the coming year, a board spokesman said.

Mrs. Thiesen taught kindergarten and first grade classes at Riverside for the past 12 years and for the past three years was the Hagar township school's principal.

Registration at the school is scheduled for Sept. 2 with the first full day of classes scheduled for Sept. 3, a board spokesman said.

SCHIRMER PARKWAY TO OPEN: Ceremonies have been scheduled Friday to mark opening of Schirmer parkway in Buchanan. Parade kicking off at city hall at 4:30 p.m. will lead to new road, former Brookway drive, which links River street and Niles-Buchanan road. Widening and extension of Brookway, renamed in honor of Walter E. Schirmer, chairman of board of Clark Equipment company, was $375,000 project. Leading city officials in ribbon-cutting ceremony will be Mayor Joseph Bachman. Schirmer will be guest of honor. (Staff photo)

Western Amateur Favorites Will Get 'Flying Start'

Defending champion Curtis Strange and his top challengers are expected to get off to "flying starts" in the upcoming Western Amateur at Point O' Woods.

It seems the Golf Coaches of America have scheduled their All-American awards banquet in New York the night before the July 30 opening round of the Am.

So All-Americans Strange, Jay Haas, Phil Hancock, Andy Bean, Keith Fergus and Kelly Roberts will have to fly out of New York in time to make scheduled tee off times the next morning.

They undoubtedly will miss Tuesday's practice round and undergo some physical strain in the hurry up flight to the twin cities, so maybe their favorite roles won't be quite so imposing.

But the credentials of the All-Americans going into the prestigious event are still impressive.

Strange edged Haas 1 up in 20 holes for the Western Amateur title a year ago and the teammates at Wake Forest have been going strong ever since. Just recently they led the Deacons to a second straight NCAA championship, with Haas taking the individual championship while Strange finished third.

Strange, who was the NCAA medalist as a freshman last year, has won several other tournaments the last two years, including the North and South Championships this year. He advanced to the semifinals in the U.S. Amateur and qualified for the Masters but did not make the final cut.

Haas, a junior this past year at Wake Forest, is the nephew of PGA professional Bob Goalby. He shared low amateur honors with Jerry Pate in this year's U.S. Open and was a member of the Walker Cup team.

Pate and Mark Igo also received first team All-American berths this year, but both turned pro recently. Another All-American, Mike Reid, won't be here because he's on a European tour with his Brigham Young team. And the other first team All-American selection, Jaime Gonzales of Oklahoma State, is doubtful. He has gone home to Brazil but is expected to return for the All-American banquet in New York. He won this year's Sunnehanna tourney.

Other quarterfinalists from last year's Western Am returning with Strange and Haas will be Hancock, Randy Simmons, Brad Fabel and Bill Mallon.

Pate was also a quarterfinalist, as was Craig Stadler, who has also turned pro.

Hancock, a junior at the University of Florida this year, lost medalist honors by one stroke to Strange in last year's Western Amateur. He recently led the Gators to the Southeastern Conference title while taking medalist honors. He also won this year's Falstaff Classic.

Others returning from last year's "Sweet Sixteen" will be Tom Jones, Stan Lee, Mike Fennelly and Doug Fischesser, the son of Don Fischesser, the pro at Signal Point Country Club in Niles.

Another southwestern Michigan golfer, Bob Ackerman of Bridgman, will also be exempt from pre-qualifying. He finished 14th in the NCAA and shared medalist honors with teammate Gary Biddinger while leading Indiana to the Big Ten championship. This will be the fifth Western Amateur for Ackerman, who was a second team All-American pick this year.

While the "young lions" will again be favored to take top honors, there will be some veterans on hand to test the youngsters, including 58-year-old Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia, a five-team Walker Cup team member.

Joining Hyndman will be Michigan's Pete Green, one of the state's top amateurs; Missouri cheese salesman Bruce Hollowell, and George "Mad Mapper" Haines from New Jersey.

The tourney gets underway

July 28 with pre-qualifying rounds at Elk Hills and Hampshire Country Club for about 300 entries.

About the top 100 will then join an exempt list of around 100 for the official Western Amateur opening on Wednesday, July 30.

Each player will play 18 holes on Wednesday and Thursday, after which there will be a cut to the top 50 scores for 36 holes of play Friday, August 1.

There then comes a cut to the top 18 for match play Saturday and Sunday.

To walk away with the championship trophy on Sunday, the winner will have played 144 holes of golf in five days.

Kuhn's Job In Limbo

Four AL Clubs Want Commissioner Fired

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn clung tenuously to his job today with the American and National leagues expected to table a final vote on extension of his term of office.

Kuhn came perilously close to being fired Wednesday when four American League clubs opposed his rehiring at baseball's summer meetings. Kuhn, whose seven-year term of office expires Aug. 12, 1976, needs nine of the 12 votes in each league to continue in office. He had all 12 in the National League but only eight in the American. The opposition was led by Oakland owner Charles O. Finley and Baltimore boss Jerold Hoffberger, both long-time opponents of Kuhn. They apparently convinced the New York Yankees and Texas Rangers to join them in opposing Kuhn.

The AL clubs spent six hours discussing the delicate issue Wednesday and then sent word to their National League counterparts of what one owner called, "our straw vote."

That didn't sit too well with the Nationals, where Kuhn's support was reported to be complete. At that point, the NL bosses invited the AL owners into their session for an informal meeting. The single matter to be discussed was Kuhn.

For another hour, the NL, led by influential Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers, tried to change the minds of Kuhn's opponents. But the only progress they made was to get the AL owners to agree to table the matter.

At that point, AL President Lee MacPhail and NL President Chub Feeney were dispatched to Kuhn's suite to report what had happened. They told him the leagues wanted to table the matter. At first, the commissioner balked at that step.

"As I understand it," said one owner, "the commissioner said he wanted a vote taken today. Then he changed his mind and said it would be all right to table it."

That left Kuhn's job in something of a limbo status. The tabling could be for two weeks, two months or, as Finley put it, "two minutes."

It seemed certain however, that no final vote would be taken at today's joint meeting. "The National League just doesn't feel the climate is right for one right now," said an AL owner.

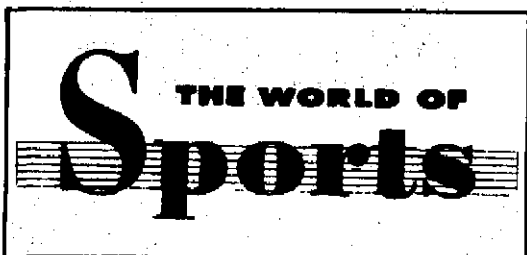

Formal votes can only be held at joint meetings and there is enough opposition to an immediate one on Kuhn to assure the commissioner's backers being able to avoid one today.

That will give O'Malley and Kuhn's other supporters time to break down the opposition to the commissioner. The question is whether they can change the mind of one of the four clubs opposed to Kuhn.

Kuhn's problems with Finley date back to the 1972 and 1973 World Series when he slapped the Oakland owner with fines, because he paid performance bonuses to Gene Tenace and Joe Rudi after the '72 classic and then when he tried to fire second baseman Mike Andrews following two costly errors in the '73 Series.

Big Sports 'Island' Planned In Chicago

Includes Stadium And Arena

CHICAGO (AP) — A $200-million sports complex to be built on a man-made island in Lake Michigan near the mouth of the Chicago River has been proposed by a group of Chicago architects and engineers.

Plans for the 50-acre island, which would be created by landfill, were given Wednesday to Mayor Richard J. Daley. The island would contain a horse-racing track, a double-deck stadium for football and baseball and a smaller arena for hockey and basketball, said Norman Zimmerman, an architect with the firm of Harry Weese & Associates, one of the proponents of the plan.

The stadium, with a seating capacity of up to 80,000 for football, would be partially submerged in the water, to give it a low profile against the city's skyline, Zimmerman said and would be connected to city streets as well as the city's subway system.

The arena for hockey and basketball would be located east of the stadium and beyond that would be a five-eighths-of-a-mile oval track for harness racing, he added. The three structures would accommodate some 155,000 persons.

Advocates of the project, which also include Engineers Collaborative, Turner Construction Co. and Floyd Magnuson, an architect, say the plan would help revitalize the city's downtown area located southwest of the proposed island.

Zimmerman said the plan, for which no financing specifics were suggested, has been under discussion for about two months.

The project is an alternative to a proposal by the Madison Square Garden Corp., to build an 80,000-seat stadium in Arlington Heights for the Chicago Bears. Daley has opposed a move to the suburbs by the National Football League team which currently plays in the 55,000-seat Soldier Field on the city's lakefront.

One-Year Pact Inked By Barney

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions announced Wednesday that veteran defensive back Earl Barney has signed a one-year contract for 1973.

Barney, 29, is entering his eighth year with the Lions and the contract is the shortest he has inked to date.

"Lern has had some problems over the last year or so," said Russ Thomas, the team's general manager, referring to psychiatric care Barney has had. "He says he is determined now to put all of that behind him."

Thomas said the contract agreement was made "in the hope that he can come back and become the player he was for so long."

Barney joined the Lions in 1967 and is one of pro football's top tack return experts. He is only 36 yards from hitting the 1,000 mark for interception returns.

Indians Use 'Cash Scramble' Gimmick

Baseball Attendance Climbs

From ASSOCIATED PRESS — Baseball owners are literally throwing money away this season in an all-out effort to lure fans into ballparks.

Along with such conventional gimmicks as bat, ball and glove days, there are such things as a "cash scramble" in Cleveland, a pass to Disneyland in Anaheim, Calif., and a free car in Los Angeles.

The result has been a grand slam in attendance.

The 24 major league clubs have attracted 16,817,710 paying customers, a leap of 4.8 per cent and 800,000 persons for the same number of games at this point in 1971. If the trend continues in the second half of the season, the result would be a record attendance figure of 31 million in the major leagues.

With the help of that unique "cash scramble" brainchild, the Cleveland Indians have boosted attendance from 500,298 last year to 670,531 this season.

The Indians throw $2,000 on the field and turn some Designated Fans loose for 90 seconds, allowing them to keep all the money they can find. The Indians also have offered their fans fireworks displays and tight rope walkers along with such old standbys as bat night, beer night, stocking cap night, jacket day, camera day, jersey day and an oldtimers day.

The California Angels, up nearly 100,000 over last year's 600,000 crowd figure at the All-Star break, are the ones giving away a pass to Disneyland. The Angels' promotion include a package where ticket purchasers get admission to the ballpark along with free rides to all Disneyland attractions after the game.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, perennial leaders in the attendance game, have drawn 1.5 million fans into their park — nearly 200,000 over last year — and threaten to crack the golden $1 million plateau this season. One of the big reasons they've been so successful through the years is their promotional campaign. The Dodgers, among other things, hold a fan appreciation day on which thousands of prizes are given away — including an automobile.

Along with the Indians and the Angels, most every other team in the American League has shown an increase in attendance this year. The New York Yankees and Milwaukee Brewers display the most noticeable increases — the Yankees moving ahead 270,638 in 1971, 861 and the Yankees shooting up 232,435 to 739,320.

Only the Texas Rangers, Chicago White Sox, Kansas City Royals and Detroit Tigers have dropped in attendance — the White Sox showing the most dramatic decrease of 203,421.

In the National League, the Cincinnati Reds follow the Dodgers in attendance with a figure of 1.2 million. The Dodgers-Reds attendance warfare has given the National League West the highest crowd figure of any division in baseball and has helped improve its over-all figure 3.1 per cent over last season. The Philadelphia Phillies are the only ones to have cracked the million mark so far in the NL East.

The Atlanta Braves are the NL's biggest losers, down 194,612 fans from last year.

Preseason Flurry Is Baseball's Las Vegas

Tigers Gambled, Lost In Trades

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Baseball's open market — the preseason trading flurry — is a little like shooting craps in Las Vegas. "C'mon seven ... snake-eyes!"

Take the American League, for example.

The Oakland A's took their roll and, lo and behold, lucky seven.

Like Vegas, Monte Carlo or the racetrack, some clubs came out ahead and others were big losers. But those who played it right, played it carefully, came out about even or slightly ahead — the Boston Red Sox, Milwaukee Brewers, New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles.

The Tigers wound up the 1974 season in last place in the AL Eastern Division and went to the trading block with gusto. They're still last in their division.

They dealt pitcher Woody Fryman to Montreal of the National League for catcher Terry Humphrey and pitcher Tom Walker. Humphrey, who's now out with a shoulder injury, has played in only 10 games and Walker has a 3-4 record. On the other hand, Fryman is 7-8 for the Expos with a respectable 3.07 earned run average.

Detroit also began Ed Brinkman's winding route to the Yankees by trading the shortstop to St. Louis through San Diego and getting first baseman Nate Colbert. Colbert, hitting around .150 and headed for what appeared to be a team straitjacket, then was sold to Montreal.

Cleveland, one game ahead of the Tigers at the All-Star break, was in the market for fresh pitching, and they couldn't have started out worse. They gave up pitchers Jim Perry and Dick Bosman to Oakland for Blue Moon Odom, who wanted nothing to do with the Tribe.

Finally Odom was traded to Atlanta for Roric Harrison, 4-2 with a 4.10 ERA.

In all, the Indians traded for pitchers Harrison, Jim Bibby, Jackie Brown, Don Hood and Dave LaRoche, "virtually our entire pitching staff," a spokesman said. But in the Hood deal, the Indians also got first baseman Boog Powell from the Baltimore Orioles, and that hasn't disappointed them.

Besides getting Jim Perry, 31 with Oakland, and Dick Bosman, 6-1 with the A's, from Cleveland, the Western Division leaders picked up pitchers Stan Bahnsen from the Chicago White Sox and Sonny Siebert from San Diego.

But the A's most significant trade may have been the one for designated hitter Billy Williams, which sent to the Chicago Cubs infielder Manny Trillo and relievers Bob Locker and Darold Knowles.

RBI and 12 home runs.

The Red Sox, whose inexplicable slide at the end of last season dropped them from first to third in the AL East, stayed out of the market this year, making only a minor deal that sent veteran Tommy Harper — and his big salary — to California for utility man Bob Heise. And the Red Sox are back in first.

Milwaukee's most notable trade, of course, was the one that brought Hank Aaron back to County Stadium from Atlanta for Dave May who had an abysmal 1973-74 season for the Brewers and now is a Braves' backup.

The most even-up trade in the majors involved the Yankees, who went to the NL's San Francisco Giants to get Bobby Bonds for Bobby Murcer — All-Star for All-Star. Bonds is hitting only .238 but has 47 RBI, 20 homers and 18 stolen bases. Murcer is hitting .307 with 51 RBI and 10 homers.

Besides Bonds and Brinkman, the Yanks also got reserve catcher Ed Herrmann from the White Sox and outfielder Rich Coggins from the Expos on waivers.

Coggins came to the Yanks by way of Montreal. He started out the season with the Orioles, who unloaded Coggins, pitcher Dave McNally and minor leaguer Bill Kirkpatrick to the Expos for pitcher Mike Torrez and Ken Singleton in what turned out to be one of the most disastrous trades the NL made with the junior circuit.

Torrez is 9-5 with the Orioles and Manager Earl Weaver says he "should have a better record, but he's been the unfortunate guy with the bullpen letting a couple of games get away from him."

Montreal waived Coggins. McNally retired and Kirkpatrick is still a minor leaguer.

The California Angels only had one trade of note — the one with Boston — but it was a good one for them. Harper, the No. 3 base stealer among active players when the season began, is credited by the Angels with developing the club's strongest trait — its speed.

He's been coaching Mickey Rivers, Jerry Remy, Morris Nettles and Dave Collins with their baserunning. Rivers has 46 stolen bases, Remy 22, Nettles 22, Collins 11 in just one month with the Angels, and Harper has 17 himself.

Harper also is challenging for leading designated hitter honors with a .272 average.

Texas is the only other AL club that has done a significant amount of trading, sending Bibby and Brown to Cleveland for the other pitching Perry, Gaylord. The maneuver hasn't turned out particularly well for either club. Gaylord is 1-5 with the Rangers. Bibby is 4-8 and Brown 0-1 with a 5.25 ERA for Cleveland.

Minnesota's only trade sent Bobby Darwin to Milwaukee for John Briggs, and, once again, the Brewers got the best of that one. Briggs has only one hit in his last 25 at bats, while Darwin has 10 homers and 28 RBI.

Kansas City was involved in no major trades but picked up Harmon Killebrew after the Twins waived him. Killebrew is hitting only .210 but has 10 homers and 33 RBI.

Foyt Could Take Title On Sunday

A.J. Racing In USAC

Twin 200s At MIS

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) — Johnny Rutherford and Bobby Unser will be among the drivers trying to keep A.J. Foyt from clinching his sixth U.S. Auto Club driving championship Sunday at Michigan International Speedway in the Twin 200s.

Foyt, however, has never won in a championship car race at MIS, although he has at just about every other track he has raced on. This year has been especially good for Foyt, whose pockets are bulging with winnings of $349,868 in winnings.

Foyt has piled up 3,810 points this year and, if neither Rutherford nor Unser can make it into the top four, will clinch the USAC crown with a first-place finish. If neither of the top two challengers finish, Foyt can clinch the crown by coasting across the finish line in fifth place.

However, the highest he has placed before at MIS, in the championship portion of the Twin 200, is eighth. Stock cars are something else. He has won three of four stock car Twin 200s, including the last two, and placed second in the other one.

Foyt will pilot a Coyote-Ford championship car, the same auto he drove to third place at Indianapolis and to a victory in the California and Pocomo 500s.

Aside from Rutherford and Unser, other foes likely to face Foyt in both the stock and championship matches will be Gordon Johncock, Bobby Allison and Pancho Carter.

A total of 31 hopefuls will compete for the 22 starting slots in the championship half of the 200s, while 60 stock car drivers will be vying for 36 open spots in their race.

Championship cars will begin qualifying Saturday morning, while the stockers begin trials Saturday afternoon.

The races themselves begin at 1 p.m. and 3:35 p.m. Sunday.

Lakeshore Legion Alive

Benton Harbor Officially 'Dead' Again

Lakeshore Legion kept its American Legion Blue-Gray title hopes alive Wednesday with a 8-2 romp over St. Joseph Legion at Lakeshore's field.

St. Joseph Mack was awarded a forfeit win over Benton Harbor with Harbor's official disbanding due to lack of players.

Lakeshore got three hits from Tim Farrow and Dale Burwell in upping its loop record to 12-3, which is good for second behind leader South Haven's 13-1. Farrow belted a two-run homer and two singles and Burwell a triple and two singles.

Winning pitcher Steve Remick, who only gave up two hits (both in the first), added a solo homer as Lakeshore scored in every inning but the first. St. Joe tallied two in the first without benefit of a hit.

Cory Benford, the first of three pitchers, took the defeat for St. Joe (6-8).

Benton Harbor pulled its "El Foldo" act for the second straight year.

"The reason is we don't have enough ball players," commented manager Bill Williams. "They're too busy doing something else."

Benton Harbor bows out with a 3-8 record with one of those losses by a forfeit. Harbor had seven league games to play. All those games will be awarded as wins to Harbor's opponents.

Hagar tallied his final run on a fly out with the bases loaded. Jim Faulstich got the win, his third in four decisions. Marks was the hitting hero for Coloma, notching two singles, driving in three runs and scoring twice. Nicholas went three-for-four to buoy the Hagar attack.

Couch Selected

MILWAUKEE (AP) — James Doughty, sixth man on Ohio State's NCAA runnerup basketball team in 1961, Wednesday was named an assistant basketball coach at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Coloma Closes Mack Gap

Coloma moved to within two games of west division leader Benton Heights last night with an 8-2 win over Hagar in Southwest Connie Mack action.

Hagar, now 0-8, actually took the early lead when losing pitcher Jim Nicholas singled in a run in the top of the first. But Coloma, now 6-4, came back with two runs in the first, second, fifth and sixth to put the contest away. Hagar got its other run in the seventh.

Bon Marks knocked in the first Coloma run with a fielder's choice and later came home on a wild pitch. Carmen Calabrese knocked in a run in the second on a long fly to left. Wally Kroschell singled and eventually came home with the other run on a wild pitch.

Coloma notched a pair in the fifth when both runners came home on the same wild pitch. The catcher tried to throw the front man out and the ball got by the pitcher who was covering home. Marks singled in both runs in the sixth.

Hagar tallied his final run on a fly out with the bases loaded. Jim Faulstich got the win, his third in four decisions. Marks was the hitting hero for Coloma, notching two singles, driving in three runs and scoring twice. Nicholas went three-for-four to buoy the Hagar attack.

Halas 'Very Good' After Operation

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Bears' owner George Halas, 80, was reported in "very good" condition after undergoing a hernia operation.

A spokesman for Northwestern Memorial Hospital said Wednesday night the founder and longtime coach of the National Football League team probably would go home in a few days.

Ruhle To Receive Degree At Park

OLIVET, Mich. (AP) — Detroit Tiger rookie pitcher Vern Ruhle will receive his degree from Olivet College on Aug. 6 between the games of a Tiger two-night doubleheader with Baltimore in Detroit.

Olivet President Ray Lueschner says Ruhle was unable to attend regular commencement exercises last spring because of a Tiger game.

Ruhle has an 8-5 record with Tigers so far this season.

Economist Testifies Rozelle Rule Restricts Players

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A one-time pro football player turned economist testified in court that athletes are restricted in effect to bargaining with one team.

"The Rozelle Rule restricts the player's ability to become a free agent," Dr. George Burman said in U.S. District Court Wednesday.

Burman was the second economist called as a rebuttal witness by plaintiffs who sued the National Football League, Commissioner Pete Rozelle and club owners.

The 15 current or former players claim the rule infringes on their ability to move as free agents, cripples their earning power and violates the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Burman is an assistant professor of economics at Carnegie-Mellon University at Pittsburgh, Pa. He played football at Northwestern University, was a 15th round draft choice of the Chicago Bears in 1964 and played with Los Angeles and Washington as reserve center and offensive lineman before retiring two years ago.

Meantime, he earned a doctorate degree at the University of Chicago, with a major in labor economics.

Burman said he never played out an option year as a pro, but testified that his experience as a player and labor economist qualified him to air views on the Rozelle Rule and other NFL regulations.

Also called the Option Compensation Rule, it lays down the steps by which a player may become a free agent. After playing the club's option year — if the player elects not to sign a contract — he becomes a free agent the next May 1st. The club can require him to take a 10 per cent pay cut for the year without a pact.

If he's successful in signing with another club, the club losing his services must be compensated, and in event the two teams involved don't agree, the commissioner dictates terms. That usually includes a draft pick or player(s).

Burman said the Rozelle Rule "gives a team monopoly power over the supply of football players," meaning there's one buyer (owner) and many sellers (players). Asked what effect elimination of the rule would have on football as an "industry," Burman asserted: "It would be zero." But he said player salaries would go up.

Burman said a troubled franchise might exchange hands through bankruptcy but believed the game is profit-oriented and owners would find suitable ways to "maximize their profits."

Hartman, Snider And Tripp Top USAC Divisions

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Butch Hartman, George Snider and Sleepy Tripp remained atop U.S. Auto Club racing divisions in action over the weekend.

USAC headquarters here reported Monday that Hartman stretched his stock car division lead over Ramo Stott, 770-590 points. Don White jumped to third with a victory in Sunday's 200-mile race at Milwaukee, in which Hartman was second.

Snider, with 412 points, leads the sprint division.

Bruin Winger Testifies In Own Behalf

Forbes Jury Begin Deliberations

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A jury of seven men and five women begin deliberations today on the question of whether a professional hockey player is bound by civil laws in a sport that encourages violence.

The player, David Forbes, a Boston Bruins winger, testified in his own behalf Wednesday, denying that he had used his stick to injure Henry Boucha of the Minnesota North Stars last Jan. 4.

Forbes, 26, said he probably was holding his stick as he skated toward Boucha, intent on settling the score for an earlier "sucker punch."

But Forbes denied any intent to use the stick as a weapon and denied using the butt end as a spear, causing a serious eye injury to Boucha.

He is the first professional athlete to face criminal charges in the United States from an incident occurring during a sports contest.

Forbes was charged with aggravated assault with a dangerous weapon. The alleged weapon, his hockey stick, was the focal point of Wednesday's closing testimony.

At one point, Forbes demonstrated for the jury how he had skated out of the penalty box, trailing the stick behind him, with the butt end probably exposed four to five inches.

The two players had clashed earlier when both went into a corner for the puck. Forbes admitted landing an elbow on Boucha and crunching the North Star forward into the boards.

Then, Forbes said, Boucha landed a "sucker punch," a blow from behind.

Forbes conceded that he turned over the incident, screamed at Boucha in the penalty box and tried to think of ways to "even the score."

Forbes said fighting is part of the game, taught to players at an early age.

A player who is intimidated, Forbes said, becomes an easy mark.

"He would realize he could walk all over me,"

Forbes said, an unusual placement of penalty boxes and player benches at Metropolitan Sports Center, home of the North Stars, means opposing players completing a simultaneous penalty must inevitably meet by crossing the ice.

It was there that the fight occurred, with Boucha later hospitalized and still complaining of double vision.

The defense called only three witnesses, including the Bruins' coach, Don Cherry, who told of a "win at all costs" philosophy.

Palmer Gets Silver Award

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — Arnold Palmer was named "Man of the Silver Era" (1950-1975) in golf by Golf Digest magazine Thursday.

Palmer, who has captured 31 professional tournaments including the Masters four times, the British Open twice, and the U.S. Open once, was selected as "the man who has made the greatest contributions to the game over the past quarter century."

He will be honored at a dinner on Aug. 5, in Akron, Ohio.

Kelly Irish Coach

SOUTH BEND — Niles high school track and cross country coach Ed Kelly has been named assistant track coach at Notre Dame.

Kelly will still coach the Niles cross country team this fall before taking over his duties at Notre Dame.

Kelly, 32, will work under new Irish head track coach Joe Plane. Kelly, who will remain at Niles as an English teacher, is a 1964 graduate of Notre Dame where he set a pole vaulting record in his senior year.

Kelly has been Niles track and cross country coach for six years.

Spitz Says Being Considered Professional Is Farce

CALI, Colombia, (AP) — The biggest attraction at the World Aquatic Championships is an out-of-shape man of 25 who hasn't swum competitively in three years.

He's Mark Spitz, glamour boy of the 1972 Olympics, and he thinks he should have the chance to swim competitively again.

"I think it's a farce," Spitz said while being engulfed by a crowd of admirers Wednesday. "I never earned a penny from any swimming competition. I shouldn't be considered a professional. I should have the chance to swim again."

Spitz, who turned the Olympic pool at Munich into his private swimming hole with seven gold medals and seven world records three years ago, isn't really going to turn in his yatching cap and life of leisure for the gut-wrenching grind of competitive swimming, but he thinks he should have the option.

"Don't get me wrong," said Spitz, who still holds two individual butterfly records from his fabulous fortnight in Munich. "I wouldn't get back into it. I had the most fulfilling swimming career possible. It had a beginning, middle and a fabulous end."

"I met all my goals at Munich, then I got the hell out. Some people stick around too long. But I went out on the very top. No one can take that away from me."

"But that doesn't make the AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) rules right. Even if I wasn't successful at Munich, I was going to retire, but that was my decision. Unretiring should be my decision too."

The AAU considers Spitz a professional because he endorses everything from the electric razor that doesn't touch his still neatly-trimmed Omar Sharif moustache to the bathing suits he wears only to lounge around on his yacht.

Spitz, of course, disagrees, and he suggests that he can still give the new swimming gladiators a run for their money.

"I'm much stronger now," he said. "I'm not in swimming shape by any means but I'm not that far away either. Sailing is my passion and it's tremendous exercise."

Spitz, who will be doing television commentary on the swimming portion of the Games, wasn't brought down to the tropics because of his experience on yatching. It is because he was the best swimmer who ever floated and three years later remains the king of swimming.

Headlines trumpeting the "arrival of Spitz and the Americans" welcomed his

Doctors Decide Rest Best Cure For Connors' Injury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fidgety Jimmy Connors won't work out for a while as doctors try to decide how best to treat an injury that slowed the acknowledged king of men's tennis during the recent Wimbledon championships.

A UCLA orthopedic surgeon confirmed Wednesday that Connors was suffering from a painful injury in his lower right leg when he lost the Wimbledon singles title to Arthur Ashe. And Connors' personal physician said Connors would be idle, although itching to play, while the injury was being watched.

Dr. Andrea Cracchiolo, the orthopedic specialist, said Con-nor's problem was a chronic anterior compartment syndrome, "which can cause from moderate pain to such severe pain and swelling that surgery is required."

Later, Dr. Earl Woods said the injury "was diagnosed in London. I confirmed it and then so did Dr. Cracchiolo. The (doctors in London) felt surgery was going to be necessary and of course that was frightening. We are making all the tests and we plan to treat it symptomatically."

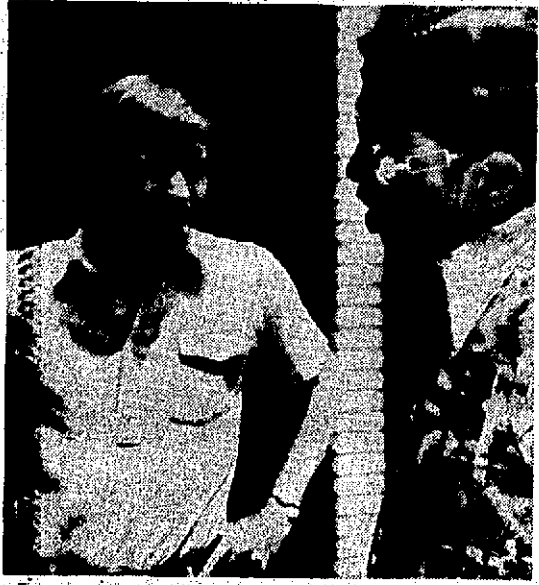

"That means not even a cast at this time, just rest," he said. Connors would see Dr. Cracchiolo Friday when a further examination would determine the next course of action.

Cracchiolo said the injury probably occurred "at the beginning of Wimbledon and got progressively worse during the week. He was on some medication during the finals, but I think it had to affect him. If he had won, I don't think we would have heard about it."

Connors conferred with Woods at the Beverly Hills Tennis Club, where he usually works out, but declined to discuss the injury. He left without picking up his racket.

Cracchiolo said Connors "didn't want anybody to know about this. But it probably affected him a half step and I think he's a tough kid not to mention it."

Settlement Ends Suit By Hirsch

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A $2.25 million lawsuit by University of Wisconsin Athletic Director Elroy Hirsch against a firm that allegedly used his "Crazylegs" nickname without permission was dismissed Wednesday in U.S. District Court here.

Court documents said an out-of-court settlement had been reached between Hirsch and Champion Products Inc. of Rochester, N.Y. The terms of the settlement were not disclosed.

Sports Money 'Unrealistic'

Hunt Says Thompson Can't Save ABA

NEW YORK (AP) — "Totally unrealistic," millionaire Lamar Hunt said of the dizzying money boom in big time sports.

"David Thompson can't save the ABA," he added, referring to the $3 million contract reportedly given to the rookie from North Carolina State by the Denver Nuggets of the American Basketball Association.

"Thompson is a fine player — everybody concedes that — but he is only one man. To survive the ABA must move into the big city arenas and create tight competition.

"Frankly, I don't see how the World Football League and World Team Tennis can overcome their big contracts."

Hunt is the young heir to a Texas oil fortune whose wealth helped the old American Football League gain recognition and finally a merger with the National Football League. He owns the NFL Kansas City Chiefs, has an interest in the Dallas Tornado of the North American Soccer League and bankrolls World Championship Tennis, the international court road show.

He was in New York Wednesday to complete a $1 million deal with Spalding, the sporting goods manufacturer, putting the WCT emblem on a line of tennis equipment and attire.

Examining the whole broad spectrum of sports, with franchises, million-dollar bonuses and escalating salaries, Hunt said there must be a breaking point.

"There is a lack of reality in Pele's soccer contract with New York. I can hardly believe the $4 to $7 million. It must involve movies and other things. Soccer cannot afford three or four Peles. How many Catfish Hunters, Bobby Orrs and David Thompsons can sports afford, anyhow?"

Ohio Fires SID To Save Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University, a major college competing in the Mid-American Conference, has fired its full-time sports information director in a budget-saving move.

Frank Morgan, 42-year-old father of seven children and the university's SID for 12 years, was told by John Milner, the state school's vice president and treasurer, his job was being abolished effective Oct. 10.

"I'd rather not comment on it," Milner tersely told The Associated Press.

As far as is known, Ohio is the first university nationwide with major sports status to fire its full-time sports publicist in the face of spiraling athletic costs.

Morgan said he telephoned Milner after church Sunday and was told of the decision.

"I was shocked," said the Willoughby, Ohio, native, a Miami (Ohio) graduate and the winner of five national publication awards.

"The university has been in trouble financially four or five years. All the meat has been cut from the bone. I only leave the bone, I guess I'm one of the bones to go," said the former Middletown, Ohio, newspaperman.

Morgan, who has had a part-time sales job to make ends meet for his large family, accepted his firing philosophically.

"I want to consider this an opportunity rather than a halcyon job," he said.

Milner said an equipment manager's position also was being abolished in the athletic department. He acknowledged declining enrollment had forced the school to abolish the jobs.

He declined to say what the school, located at Athens, Ohio, would do about fulfilling the functions of the sports publicist job once Morgan leaves in the fall.

Bill Rohr, Ohio's athletic director, was on vacation and unavailable for comment.

FIRST LADY NOT INSULTED

Woody's Sneakers 'Funny'

FOX: Not a member of the wedding.

NOW SEE HERE!

By Bert Bacharach

Q: Why did Woody Allen wear sneakers with his tux when he took Betty Ford to the ballet? Wasn't that rude? — T.R., Stamford, Conn.

A: Woody is a strict nonconformist in dress and he thought the tennis shoes would fit right in with his offbeat image. He didn't intend to be rude to the First Lady, merely to help garner more publicity for her appearance at the Martha Graham ballet benefit (he succeeded). Mrs. Ford admires everything Woody does and she thought the shoes were a funny touch.

Q: Is it true that Audrey Hepburn is finally going to do another movie? — B.Y., South Bend, Ind.

A: Every movie producer in the world has been trying to lure Audrey out of retirement in Rome. The group of highly talented movie makers who finally pulled it off are producers Ray Stark and Richard Sheppard, director Richard Lester and writer James Goldman. The film is

"Robin and Marian" and Audrey plays a 40-year-old maid Marian to Sean Connery's middle-aged Robin Hood.

Q: I hear Redd Foxx didn't go to his daughter's wedding. Do you know why? — Montgomery, Ala.

A: We hear it's because his estranged wife sent out invitations reading "Mrs. Redd Foxx requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter . . . leaving out the comedian's name. So she married Ralph Russell in Hollywood without daddy in attendance. He felt snubbed.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Why is Warner Brothers anxious to see Cher get it on again with her former producer Snuff Garrett?

Well, because little ole Cher had a lot of hits when she was working with Snuff and she hasn't had any lately working with Dave Geffin.

PEOPLE

By Robin Adams Sloan

WOODY: The sneakers paid off.

AUDREY: They finally convinced her.

Robin Adams Sloan welcomes questions from readers. While Sloan cannot provide individual answers, questions of general interest will be used in the column. Write to Robin Adams Sloan, care of this newspaper.

FADED PHRASES: "It's a feather in his cap." "He's a knight in shining armor." "Watch out for the Grim Reaper." . . . Sandwich Favorite of singer Jonelle Allen: Sprinkle a bit of cinnamon on peanut butter — on toasted hamburger roll. . . Countess Mara is now offering a $2,000 necktie and a $2,500 robe. (Only one to a customer!). . . Columbia's "Bite the Bullet" is the saga of a marathon horse race. (No doubt it will do well in the Bronx!). . . A couple dining at Act 1 were discussing the expense of today's living: "We could have stayed on our budget, but we decided to eat instead!"

George Segal has a "fight to the death" with heavy Jacques Sandulescu in "Russian Roulette." (Hope he has some good punch lines!). . . The Louisiana Superdome, world's biggest indoor stadium, will be serving "superdogs" — 8-inch long wieners on oversized rolls! . . . Casa Cugat, fronted by Xavier Cugat and Charo, will open in L.A. on July 20 — featuring Cugie's personal Mexican recipes. . . Candice Bergen did the still photos on the set of "Bite the Bullet." No doubt she said: "Smile! You're on Candy's camera!"

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: Sagittarians should take special care of their hair, as early baldness is a tendency of the sign. For those born under Cancer — do not miss any chance of meeting new people and making new contacts. With his many-sided nature, Gemini is often thought to "blow hot and cold in the same breath."

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: A jigger of dry sherry added to a cooking spaghetti sauce removes most of the acid (Gaetano's Ristorante, NYC). . . Add Canadian-bacon bits to the pancake batter and serve with sour cream (The Saloon, Beverly Hills). . . Cut green peppers into small pieces, saute in oil until soft, then blend chopped anchovies into them for an incredible taste (Pen & Pencil, NYC).

HELPFUL HINTS: To remove extra-subborn spots on tile, use steel wool dampened with a liquid wax. . . Use liquid shoe polish for touching up scarred furniture.

TODAY In History

Jetliner Death Is Blamed On Smoke Inhalation

MIAMI (AP) — A college student who committed suicide by inhaling smoke from a fire he set in the restroom of an airborne jetliner had a history of antisocial behavior and mental disorders, officials say.

Records showed Anthony George Townsend, 24, was treated during 1973 and 1974 at the South Florida State Mental Hospital, where court records showed he complained of hearing voices accusing him of being a sissy and telling him he was going to die.

Authorities said Townsend spread papers over the floor in one of four rear lavatories in the DC-10 Tuesday night, lit the paper and then squatted over the fire until he collapsed unconscious. They said the only burns he suffered came when he fell to the floor.

An autopsy report said Townsend, a business student at Miami-Dade Community College, died of smoke inhalation.

The plane, National Airlines flight 1801 from New York to Miami, made an unscheduled landing at Jacksonville, but was never in any danger, authorities said. None of the other 57 passengers was injured.

Townsend, a high school dropout who was discharged from the Army after just nine months of service, had been under psychiatric care intermittently since early 1972, records show.

Prior to his hospitalization in 1973, Townsend's police record showed arrests on at least two occasions, including charges for inciting a riot, aggravated assault and resisting arrest with violence.

Court records show Townsend complained of hearing the voices of birds, one of which told him, "I'm going to take you with me; you're going to die."

His father, George Townsend, said his son was upset by the death of an aunt and was returning from her funeral in Philadelphia.

"He was as close as a kid ought to be to an aunt," the elder Townsend said.

Democrats Name Temporary Tax Panel Member

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has replaced an ill member of its Taxation Committee to get enough votes to report out a bill revising Michigan business taxes.

Sen. Bill Huffman, D-Madison Heights, was named Wednesday to temporarily replace Sen. John McCauley, D-Grassie Ile, who is recovering from a heart attack. Huffman's selection gives Democrats the four votes needed to move the bill to the Senate floor.

The committee was expected to meet today to act on Gov. William Milliken's "single business tax." The bill would replace eight business taxes with a single 2.3 per cent tax rate on profits, payroll, interest and depreciation.

The committee is expected to amend the bill slightly, however, requiring its return to the House, which has already passed it.

The unusual action of replacing a committee member came after Sen. John Bowman, D-Roseville, committee chairman, ditched an idea to "round-robin" the bill to get McCauley's vote from his hospital bed. To round-robin a bill means getting the signed vote of individual members without holding a formal meeting.

The idea went down the drain, Bowman said, when McCauley said he didn't want to vote for the bill, leaving the Democrats a vote short.

"I thought we had his vote," Bowman said Wednesday. "Jack said he didn't want to sign it. He said he'd rather step down."

The $800 million shift in business taxes is needed before the budget is passed for the current fiscal year. The tax revision bill promises to bring in some $180 million in a one-time windfall — a key to balancing the budget.

Woman Is First Black Juror In Joan Little Trial

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The first black juror has been seated in the Joan Little murder trial, after the state had used three of its nine peremptory challenges to excuse blacks.

Defense attorneys for Miss Little, a 21-year-old black charged with killing a white jailer, have objected each time prosecutors excused a black potential juror.

Pecola Jones, a 49-year-old black woman, became on Wednesday the fourth juror seated for the case. She was accepted by the prosecution despite her reservations about capital punishment.

Miss Little faces a mandatory death sentence if convicted of first-degree murder in the death of Clarence Alligood, 82.

The state challenged Mrs. Jones, a machinist, on the grounds of her reservations about the death penalty, but Judge Hamilton Hobgood refused to dismiss her for cause after she said she could follow his instructions, despite her feeling about capital punishment.

Previously selected for the jury were two young white women and a young white man.

Meanwhile, the defense won the right to examine evidence held by the state. Chief defense counsel Jerry Paul said he has sought access to much of the physical evidence in the case for months, including photographs of the death scene and articles of clothing.

Hobgood also ordered the state to turn over to him for court examination any statements it had received from a trusty who was in the Beaufort County jail last Aug. 27, the night Alligood was killed.

Couple Finds Right Home

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer
ROCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — For 20 years, Arnold Skromme and his wife collected 18th Century furniture. Now, they have found a colonial house to match and plan to ship it home to Illinois piece by piece.

Skromme has been dismantling the 217-year-old, six-room frame house for the past two weeks and soon will pack the boards, beams, split-board lathing and even original "rose head" nails into a freight car bound for Moline, Ill.

"This is a home for the rest of our lives. It will be the last we'll ever build," the 58-year-old agricultural engineer for John Deere Co. said Tuesday.

He estimated that the project will cost "between $50,000 and $100,000, at least."

Along with six college students, his wife, a son and a neighbor from Moline, Skromme has marked and numbered every disassembled piece of the house.

According to state records, the house was built in 1758. It has never had electricity, water or plumbing. It relies on six fire places converging into a single chimney for heat. No one has lived in it regularly since 1950.

"We've been collecting 18th Century furniture and now it's all in a modern ranch-style house and it doesn't fit at all. We wanted to get a house for our furniture," Skromme said.

He said he had looked at more than 50 old houses from eastern Pennsylvania to northern New England.

Last August, he came upon the Dame homestead, as the house here is known. He bought it for an undisclosed price.

Although a bit disappointed that some of the beams of the unpainted, weather-beaten house appeared to be in worse shape than expected, Skromme said he was increasingly amazed at the history surrounding the structure.

Local historians say the house was built by Jabez Dame in 1758 on land bought by his father two years earlier. Twice it was attacked by Indians and once suffered fire damage. Except from 1834 to 1866, the 27-by-37-foot house was continuously owned by the Dame family until Eldredgo Dame agreed to sell to Skromme.

Skromme said that when the project is finished, only a granite foundation, some timber used in a renovation project in 1842 and the six-fireplace chimney will remain in New Hampshire.

Determined to take only the original parts of the house — "1758 and not a year later!" — he said he plans to build a new chimney on land in Moline and that pieces of wood that cannot be reassembled will be cut fresh and patterned after the 18th Century style.

"We've got 18th Century furniture, so what can you do?" he said.

Fugitive Lawmaker

Returning To Britain

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — John Stonehouse, the fugitive member of the British House of Commons, and his secretary left for London today with a Scotland Yard escort.

Both were scheduled to be arraigned at Bow Street Court on Friday morning. Stonehouse on 21 counts of fraud, forgery and theft, and his secretary, Sheila Buckley, on five charges related to stolen checks.

THIS IS THE PLACE: It's a 217-year-old house which Arnold Skromme is dismantling for a move to Moline, Ill. The Skrommes have been collecting 18th century furniture for 20 years and decided to get a house to keep it in. They're taking it piece-by-piece to Illinois on a freight car. (AP Wirephoto)

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Retreat Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market retreated again today amid profit taking and renewed interest rate uncertainties.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off nearly a point, and losers took a 3-2 lead over gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted some apprehension over the possibility of another quarter-point increase in the prime lending rate Friday by New York's First National City Bank, which has raised the basic rate on corporate loans from 6 1/4 to 7 1/4 percent over the last two weeks.

In the morning's economic news the government reported that the drop in the nation's Gross National Product, narrowed to 3 percent, excluding the effects of inflation, in the second quarter. That compared with an 11.4 percent slide in the previous three months.

Today's early prices included Citicorp, up 1/4 at 55 1/2, and American Telephone & Telegraph, down 1/4 at 56 1/2.

Cook Industries jumped 1 1/2 to 19 1/2 on news of the company's sales of 2.2 million tons of wheat to the Soviet Union.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average dropped 9.70 to 872.11. Losers outpaced gainers by nearly a 2-1 margin on the NYSE in turnover of 25.25 million shares.

The Big Board's composite index gave up .52 to 50.72.

Europeans Acquiring Clark Units

BUCHANAN — Alean Aluminum (Europe) S.A., of Geneva, Switzerland, and Clark Equipment Company announced that Alean and Automotive Equipment Betelungs GmbH (AEB), have reached an agreement — subject to formal ratification — with several Clark subsidiaries to purchase Clark truck body operations in Europe.

AEB is a new company which will be capitalized by the present management personnel of Clark's European trailer operations and certain independent distributors. This management, which has built up the manufacturing and marketing of the Cargo Van to a dominant position in Europe, will continue to manage the newly-acquired operations.

The shares of Clark Schumann Fahrzeugfabrik GmbH, Kirchheimbolanden, Germany, and the assets of Clark Equipment Limited, Bridgend, Wales, both manufacturing Cargo Van prefabricated truck body kits, will be acquired by Alean and AEB under this agreement. The purchase will also include certain licensing rights, patents and Cargo Van trademarks held by Clark Equipment A.G., Zurich.

This represents a significant acquisition for Alean's end products division in Europe and is in line with Alean's general policy of extending its activities into selected profitable end product operations.

HOW TO SLASH YOUR '75 AND '76 TAXES NOW!

Many of you assume that if you can't take the dependency deduction, you can't get the medical expense deduction for that person either. This is just not so.

If the person is related to you as required by law (your mother, say) and you (1) actually pay the expenses of her medical care; and (2) contribute more than half her support, you're entitled to the deduction. This is true even though you can't take a personal exemption for her because her gross income is $750 or more.

To illustrate, say you are married and give $3,000 in '75 to help support your mother, of which $2,000 is for medical expenses. Your mother has investments which give her a yearly income of $1,500. This immediately disqualifies her as your dependent, for her income is far too high — but although you can't claim her as a personal exemption, you can deduct the $2,000 of her medical costs.

Or say you're supporting a married daughter whose income is less than $750. Talk to her now, make sure she doesn't file a joint return with her husband or you'll lose the dependency deduction. But even if she does file a joint return, you do not forfeit the medical expenses you pay for her — assuming you're contributing more than half her support.

Also, keep in mind that transportation expenses to and from doctor or hospital — such as cab fares or auto expenses — are deductible. Don't risk forgetting a single expense item; keep your records up-to-date.

You can take a deduction of 7 cents a mile for medical transportation if you use your own car, and deduct, in addition, tolls and parking fees. Keep those records of fees.

You even may be able to deduct long distance travel. Prentice-Hall emphasizes. As an illustration, a New Yorker who had moved to California was permitted to deduct the cost of transportation to and from his New York physician for an annual check-up, because he had a bona fide medical purpose for the trip.

Of course, if you're in a hospital, you don't have to allocate between the medical and the room and board portions of the bill: all the costs are deductible. But how about food and lodging while enroute to an out-of-town hospital? The courts have decided that former definitions of "transportation" of this sort were too narrow and that the full cost of getting a

Volkswagen Gets U.S. Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Transportation Department has selected Volkswagen to conduct a $98,000, one-year study on auto safety features.

The project, to be completed by June 30, 1976, will be done at VW's research center in Wolfsburg, West Germany.

VW said the research division will prepare an engineering model integrating all safety-related passenger car features on current models as well as projections of design changes through the next 10 years.

The information then will be turned over to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, which would use the data to assess how vehicle safety factors affect car designs.

The latest assignment is VW's second contract from the Transportation Department. In January 1974, the foreign company was awarded a grant to work on a research safety vehicle project.

Earnings Off, Sales High At Upjohn

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Upjohn Co. says the three-month and half-year periods which ended June 30 produced its highest sales ever, although earnings fell.

Profits were eroded by escalating costs and expenses, the depressed U.S. market for urethane chemicals and a decline in antibiotic sales, the chemical and pharmaceutical firm said.

Upjohn's second quarter sales of $240.9 million were up 13.7 percent from the comparable year-ago quarter, it said. Net earnings for the three months ended June 30, 1975, were $19.5 million or 8 cents per share of common stock, the firm said. That compared with earnings of $20.8 million or 70 cents a share in the like 1974 period, Upjohn said.

For the six months ended June 30, the firm reported worldwide sales of $453.3 million, up from $408.4 million in the same period last year.

The largest dollar sales gain for the just-completed quarter were posted in the firm's agricultural division, which increased 43 percent worldwide over the same period last year, the company said.

Zeeland Firm's Revenues Climb

ZEELAND, Mich. (AP) — Herman Miller Inc., an office furniture and facility management systems firm, earned $2.51 million in the year ended May 31, up from $2.37 million the year before, officials said Wednesday.

Revenues were $48.7 million, up from $48.2 million the year before.

Judge Says Man Cannot Commit Prostitution

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — A district court judge has ruled that the crime of prostitution can be committed only by women. He acquitted a man of the charge.

Frederick E. Doane Sr. of Brockton was acquitted Wednesday by Judge George Hurd after a 70-minute trial.

The 31-year-old defendant, married and the father of two children, was the first man known to have stood trial in Massachusetts on a charge of prostitution.

He was arrested May 26. An additional charge of soliciting was filed against him Wednesday shortly before the trial began. Doane also was acquitted of that charge.

Defense lawyer P.J. Piscitelli of Brockton, who presented no witnesses, asked in his summation that his client be found innocent on the grounds that a male cannot commit prostitution. He said the statute under which Doane was charged uses feminine pronouns.

The prosecutor, Brockton Police Sgt. Arthur Porciello, argued that the Oxford Dictionary definition of prostitution does not specify male or female.

The prosecution presented three witnesses. Penny Etienne, 22, of Pembroke said she answered an advertisement in a Boston weekly newspaper for an assistant to a masseuse.

She said she went to Doane's apartment Dec. 13 in answer to the advertisement and was told by Doane that she would have to give massages and "anything the customers want."

She said she saw on professional massage equipment in the apartment and witnessed Doane engage in sexual acts with a male customer.

Policewoman Ann Gurman, who made the arrest, testified that she answered the advertisement and met Doane. She said Doane told her he wanted her to give massages and engage in sexual acts, which she did not specify.

The third prosecution witness, Police Lt. John Bukunt, commander of the department's Bureau of Criminal Investigation, testified that Doane admitted to him that he engaged in various sexual acts for money.

Ohio Man Accused Of Jumping Bond

PAW PAW — Roy E. Boyd, 25, Paulding, Ohio, demanded a preliminary examination when arraigned yesterday in Seventh district court on a charge of absconding on bond.

He is charged with absconding on a $800 bond last December while awaiting arraignment on a charge of auto theft. The preliminary examination was scheduled for July 22 and Boyd ordered held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

In other cases, Robert Case, 23, formerly of Paw Paw, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of uttering and publishing a no account check for $42 April 17 at Harding's market, Decatur.

The preliminary examination was scheduled for July 22 and Case lodged in the county jail in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Mark E. Lee, 19, Taylor, and Richard P. Jones, 26, Lincoln Park, were released on their own recognizance after pleading guilty to charges of possession of marijuana.

They were arrested yesterday after state police at Paw Paw had stopped a car for speeding on I-94 near Lawrence and found a quantity of suspected marijuana during a search of the vehicle. Judge William C. Buhl scheduled sentencing for Aug. 11.

Five Sentenced, Trio Bound Over In Berrien Court

Three people were bound over to Berrien Circuit court, one demanded preliminary examination and five were sentenced Wednesday in Berrien Fifth District court. And charges against two men were dismissed.

Bound over were: Leon Saenz, 24, of 210 South Mary, Hartford, and Feliciano E. Saenz, 30, of 437 West Ferry, apartment 4, Berrien Springs, on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, a beer bottle, against William E. Cox July 6 in Berrien Springs. The two men remained jailed in lieu of $5,000 bonds.

Anthony L. Hardy, 20, of 650 South Crystal avenue, Benton township, charged with breaking and entering a Benton township dwelling July 9. He was freed on $2,000 bond. Charges against a co-defendant in the case, Donald L. Abraham, 24, same address, were dismissed.

Demanding examination on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property valued over $100 was Daryl L. Moon, 24, of 837 Colfax, Benton Harbor. He was jailed in lieu of $1,000 bail.

Sentenced were: Larry D. Baker, 28, of 1440 Main street, St. Joseph, fine and costs of $110 and restitution of $88 to Johnnie Hisey for failing to pay wages to Hisey from June 25, 1974, to July 1974.

John W. Neal, 35, of 825 Ogden avenue, Benton Harbor, 30 days in jail for contempt of court, failure to pay fines and costs after pleading guilty to driving while license suspended on April 16.

Ophelia Smith, 53, of 588 Cass, Benton Harbor, 60 days in jail for assault and battery against Jimmie L. Mosley July 6 in Sodus township.

R.C. Allen, 47, of 1011 East Main, Benton Harbor, $10 or two days in jail for disorderly person July 15 in Benton Harbor.

Tidibuo B. Yuoh, 24, of Ann Arbor, three days in jail and $25 for driving while license suspended May 26 in St. Joseph township.

A charge of breaking and entering a Bainbridge township dwelling was dismissed for Jerry D. Prince, 32, of Lebanon, Ind. County Fulcher, assistant prosecutor, said the charge was dismissed when a witness failed to appear for Prince's preliminary examination.

Fulcher moved for dismissal of the charge and also asked the court to issue a bench warrant for the arrest of the witness on a charge of contempt of court. The warrant for the arrest of Dexter Stevens, Coloma, was issued.

Police Seek Owner Of Tan Safe

NILES — A safe discovered by children in a field near here in June was reported to state police at the Niles post yesterday.

Troopers said they are trying to determine the owner of the 12 by 24-inch, tan-colored safe found by children in a field near Weaver road.

The door of the safe had been pried off and was missing, police said. There were no identifying marks on the safe, police said.

Police said they were told that the safe was discovered by children in early June but was not reported until yesterday.

Injured Suspect Arrested

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — State Police say they've issued a warrant for the arrest of Walter Burns of Detroit, now hospitalized here following a Wednesday robbery and car crash. Burns, troopers allege, held up a motorist on Interstate 75 in Roscommon County and stole the victim's car. Police said they chased Burns, 32, into Bay County, where he slammed into a State Police car. Two troopers, one from Bay City and one from Bridgeport, were hospitalized with crash injuries.

Manhole Covers Go Flying

TROY, Mich. (AP) — Two manhole covers weighing more than 100 pounds each were thrown about 100 feet in the air Wednesday by an explosion at the intersection of Big Beaver and Rochester Roads. Police said the explosion, which was followed by a fire, may have been caused by a leaky gas line ignited by a spark. No one was injured during the incident, but a gasoline pump at a nearby station was destroyed when one of the covers landed on it.

Guard Commander Transferred

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — The commander of the Traverse City Coast Guard station for the last three years, Capt. Bernard Hoyland, is being transferred to search and rescue operations for the Coast Guard in Boston. During Hoyland's tenure at Traverse City, his crews went on 450 search and rescue missions. The executive commander of the station, Capt. John Hancock, will temporarily assume Hoyland's duties, the Coast Guard said.

CRUNCH: Hartford man was hospitalized as result of this accident on Church street in Coloma yesterday. David Alan Terlisner, 18, 107 Paras Hill drive, Hartford, was reported in good condition in Watervliet Community hospital. Coloma Police Chief Kenneth Unruh, who witnessed accident, said Terlisner auto crossed centerline into path of other car, driven by Clarence Butzbach, 76, 106 South West street, Coloma. Two passengers in Terlisner car, Laura Jean Shirley, 18, route 1, Hartford, and Tracy Shirley, 2, same address, were treated at hospital and released. Butzbach and two passengers in his car, his wife, Clara, 60, and Frieda Sheldon, 72, Benton Harbor, escaped injury. Unruh said Terlisner was ticketed for driving left of center. ### POLICE ROUNDUP

Alarm Sends Burglar Fleeing Without Loot

A burglar alarm alerted Benton Harbor police to a break-in this morning and the frightened burglar dropped his loot as he escaped on foot.

The alarm at Betty's Cleaners, 140 North Fair avenue, went off at about 3:30 a.m., police said, and patrolman Greg Platts, spotted a man who fled down an alley, dropping three pairs of pants a coat and jacket, all identified as from the cleaners.

Three state police tracking dogs called to the scene were unable to locate anyone in the area. Police said the dogs were at the Benton Harbor post for training.

Three thefts were reported Wednesday to Benton township police.

Berrien Marriage Licenses

The following marriage licenses have been issued by Berrien County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke:

Nathaniel E. Green, 28, and Susan Kay Schmal, 29, both of Sodus.

Marshall Ray White, 29, and Lyla Jeannette Brownlow, 32, both of Coloma.

Robert Franklin Wiener, 42, and Scendia Leigh Koch, 24, both of St. Joseph.

Harold Robert Singer, 30, and Ruby Sisson, 30, both of Benton Harbor.

Terry Hassell Chavers, 26, and Nancy Lee Haase, 22, both of Niles.

Gordon Hatfield Smith, 40, and Cheryl Kay Herrington, 35, both of Niles.

Harold Graham Story, 19, Fort Gordon, Ga., and Lisa Jean Foster, 19, St. Joseph.

Wayne Allen Hazen, 27, and Barbara Rose Brunas, 21, both of Coloma.

Body Recovered

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — The body of Gerald Russell, 31, of Allen, Mich., was pulled from 25 feet of water in Bear Lake on Wednesday night by divers, Hillsdale County sheriff's deputies said.

An autopsy was ordered in the apparent drowning, deputies said. No other details were released by officers.

Driver Arraigned In Allegan

ALLEGAN — Ronald Chrisman, 25, Allegan, is to be arraigned in 57th District court here Monday on a charge of negligent homicide in connection with the auto crash last Friday night which claimed the life of Richard Button, 17, Allegan.

Allegan county sheriff's deputies arrested Chrisman late Tuesday and he appeared at district court in Allegan where he posted a $1,000 bond, court officials said.

Arraignment was set for next Monday. Deputies said Chrisman was the driver of a car in which Button was a passenger when the vehicle went off Monroe road near 37th street and struck a tree.

Button was thrown from the car and was pronounced dead at Allegan General hospital at 11:23 p.m.

Readers Express Opinions

Who will make their delivery? Will the private firms handle air mail, special deliveries, certified, etc. cheaper and faster than USPS? And what about the newspapers with all their advertising, weekly magazines and other 2nd class mail? Here again, will private firms be able to give this service along with the 1st class mail? One time or another, inquiries and claims will have to be checked and resolved. Is it possible that the private firms will make perfect deliveries without having to resort to inquiries or claims? Then there is the 3rd and 4th class matter. Those free samples, packages (some weighing 40 or more pounds) bees, plants, church bulletins, etc., etc. How cheaply, how expeditiously can the private firms handle this? I suppose, the 3rd and 4th class mail can be left to the Postal Service. Give the private firms the icing along with the cake, and if there are any crumbs left, give it to the USPS.

Any periodical, newspaper, magazine you pick up and read, almost certainly "digs into" or "belittles" the postal service. In the eyes of many people we don't look too good. The Postal Service doesn't claim to be perfect, not even near perfect, and I doubt if ever will be perfect. With some 80 to 90 billion pieces the USPS handles yearly, there are bound to be delays, some losses, raising of rates, and other headaches. BUT, there is the consolation that someone, somewhere in the USPS is trying to resolve, straighten out and remedy whatever shortcomings the organization has to live with. Are there 6, a dozen, two dozen — just how many private firms would tackle this kind of business at a cheaper rate and faster delivery of, not only the 1st class mail but all four classes of mail to your home or place of business, be it here locally or just about to any part of the world?

When Your Kids Are Adults: Sound Advice By Susan Wilson • Test Yourself: What Every Couple Should Know About Marriage • Suzanne Pleshette Talks About Her Real And TV Husbands

"One day Tommy was trying to educate me in the ways of money, and he came across the fact that I was spending $60 a week on laundry!"

Suzanne Pleshette Very Lucky Woman

Suzanne Pleshette is one of the luckiest women today — she has two great husbands! Every working day she plays Bob Newhart's wife on CBS-TV's "Bob Newhart Show." In real life she is married to Thomas Joseph Gallagher III, whom she describes as being very much like her "TV husband," supportive and tolerant of female foibles. Read about Suzanne and Tom's off-screen relationship with the Newharts. Find out how Suzanne became an experienced and successful businesswoman. Enjoy this week's cover story on Suzanne Pleshette, the actress and woman who has finally come into her own.

Read it Saturday in Family Weekly, a regular supplement of The Herald-Palladium.

Soyuz Landing On TV

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks say the Soviet Union has agreed to give them live television coverage of the scheduled Soyuz spacecraft landing Monday deep inside Russia.

CBS, NBC and ABC will begin broadcasting Monday from 6:30 to 7 a.m. If all goes well, spokesmen for the networks said Wednesday. Such coverage would be unprecedented, as was Tuesday's live telecast of the Soyuz launching. NBC researchers estimated that 12 million persons watching American television saw the Soyuz takeoff, with 30 million tuned in for the Apollo launch later Tuesday afternoon.

An NBC spokesman said the figures were projections tentatively based on New York samples made by the A.C. Nielson Co. He said more comprehensive audience estimates will be available in about two weeks.
